Speculation Grows That Mr. Truman Won't Run In '52

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—(AP)—President Truman's assertion that the new Democratic platform will re-emphasize the "Fair Deal" has strengthened Washington speculation that Mr. Truman won't run again.

Some Democrats think the President expects the party to make defense of his administration its chief domestic issue and will be satisfied to seek this sort of vindication without running again himself.

Senator A. Willis Robertson (D-Va.) predicts publicly that Mr. Truman won't be a candidate.

The Truman statement was the top development in a week of political flurries that brought Gov. Earl Warren of California officially into what now shapes up as a Republican nomination race between Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and the field. The picture is still obscured by the silence of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as to whether he will run.

The Eisenhower people pushed Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) to the forefront as their campaign manager. But it apparently remains for Lodge and Senator Duff (R-Pa.) to get some direct word from the general on a trip to Paris next month that they can translate into campaign assurances of his availability for the GOP nomination.

Lodge Goes-To Work

Lodge plunged into his work yesterday with a news conference statement that Eisenhower will be "overwhelmingly elected" as a Republican. He said "I know he's a Republican" and his election would be "a great thing for the United States and humanity."

On the other hand, Senator Dirksen (R-Ill.) told apother news conference he believes sentiment for Eisenhower has not penetrated the mass voting level. He said he had found instead a "deep and abiding interest" in Taft's candidacy.

Mr. Truman told his Thursday news conference at Key West that the "Fair Deal" will be in the next Democratic platform regardless of who runs.

He told the same conference, in a discussion of another matter sure to have political repercussions, that he wants to get at the bottom of reports of tax collection irregularities." The next day he fired T. Lamar Caudle, assistant attorney general in charge of the justice department's tax division for "outside activities" incompatible with his official duties.

Statement Interests Dixie

The President's statement about a 1952 "Fair Deal" platform was of particular interest to southern Democrats. To States Righters from Dixie it was a signal that the party probably won't accept any of their demands for a new place in the Democratic sun, nor will it soften its stand on the politically-explosive civil rights issue.

Southern demands for more weighty voting power—through return to the rule that requires a two-third votes to nominate in the convention, and otherwise—are expected to be presented to the July convention by Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina.

Partly because of this situation, Taft was further established during the week as the leading Republican possibility at this time. Taft predicted his own nomination on "a very early ballot."

Rep. Cole (R-NY) said a poll of House Republicans showed Taft leading Eisenhower, 71 to 54, as the Presidential nominee choice of those voting.

Combined with a previous Associated Press poll of national committee members, state chairmen and governors which gave Taft a 42 to 25 lead over Eisenhower, this seemed to indicate the Ohio senator is the present top choice of party officials.

Soviet Plan To Shelf

Debate Opens On Arms Count In UN Monday

PARIS, Nov. 17—(AP)—The United States, Britain and France won U. N. committee approval today for opening of debate Monday on their arms limitation proposals, which include a call for an eventual count of atomic weapons.

The 60-nation political committee at the same time overrode Soviet bloc protests and shelved Russia's peace package for discussion much later in the Assembly. Western speakers attacked the Moscow proposals as old and oft-defeated.

West Wins Vote, 45-5

The vote to take up the Western three-power plan was 45 to 5 (Soviet bloc), with five abstentions.

A Russian attempt to have the Moscow plan listed for discussion immediately after the three-power plan, was smothered 38 to 6, with ten abstentions. India joined the five Soviet bloc countries in supporting this procedure.

U. S. Secretary of State Acheson will open the three-power case in the political committee Monday. He will explain a formal resolution detailing the ideas laid down by President Truman in his address to the United States Nov. 7 and advanced by big three speakers here.

US Takes No Chance

Testifying to the importance they attach to their plan, the United States, Britain and France sent their big guns to the political committee this morning for what was billed as purely a procedural argument on the committee program.

Acheson sat for the United States, the first time any Secretary of State has taken part as a representative in the committee.

Cold Air Covers Most Of Nation

(By The Associated Press)

Growers in Florida, the southwest and California hustled for smudge pots Saturday night as a cold wave covered almost the entire nation.

The federal-state frost warning service forecast fair and much colder Saturday night and early Sunday morning for upper Florida, with temperatures Sunday morning of 32 to 36 degrees.

The temperature dropped to 31 near Redlands, Calif., Saturday and two desert towns, Palmdale and Daggett, Calif., had lows of about 30 degrees.

In Texas, however, the weather bureau at Dallas said the expected overnight freeze wouldn't damage crops since most of those unprotected already have been ruined by earlier frosts.

The Dallas weather man forecast 14 to 20 degree weather in the Panhandle, south plains and north central Texas.

The temperature thumped down to 14 degrees below zero at Rawlings, Wyo., early Saturday morning. Freezing temperatures extended to the South Carolina coast and almost to the Gulf of Mexico.

At Birmingham, Ala., where there were light snow flurries, the forecast was for 26 degrees. Amarillo, Tex., had a minimum of 15 degrees.

Man, Wife Killed In Wreck At Rolla

ROLLA, Mo., Nov. 17—(AP)—A St. Charles, Mo., couple died instantly tonight when thrown from their overturned auto south of here, but a 17-month-old child who remained in the car escaped with minor injuries.

State patrolmen here identified the dead as Lloyd Courtney, 34, of St. Charles, and his wife, Ann Lois, 23.

The boy identified as Mrs. Courtney's son, Michael, 17 months, was reported in a satisfactory condition at Phelps county hospital here.

Troopers decided Mrs. Courtney was driving because a bus driver reported seeing a woman at the wheel when the southbound auto passed him. The one-car wreck occurred on highway 63, a mile and a half south of Edgar Springs.

Man Found Dead On 66 Near Springfield, Mo.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 17—(AP)—Injuries suffered in a possible hit-and-run accident caused the death of Albert Blair of Springfield, tonight.

Blair, aged 77, was found lying on highway 66, about a mile and a half east of Springfield, this morning. He apparently had been struck by a car as he walked across the road.

Truman Holds Tax Meeting With Lawton

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 17—(AP)—President Truman's determination to confront Congress with a demand for billions of dollars in new taxes was strengthened today after a conference with Budget Director Frederick J. Lawton.

The budget director flew back to Washington this morning after a two-hour talk with the President last night in the "Little White House" here.

Lawton wouldn't discuss the talk and Presidential Secretary Joseph Short limited his account of the meeting to saying they talked over "details of a segment of the budget."

How much the President will ask was still in the discussion case. Any request at all is certain to meet stiff resistance. Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Finance Committee has said he has voted for his last tax increase.

The President's last tax increase recommendation was for $10,000,000,000. At the time it was submitted he said he would seek $6,000,000,000 more later. However, Congress cut even the $10,000,000,000 request down to $5,691,000,000.

In signing the tax bill, the President declared it was inadequate.

Secretary Short said he had no information whether a total spending figure for the 1953 fiscal year starting July 1 next has been reached. Secretary of the Treasury Snyder has estimated a deficit for this fiscal year of about $7,500,000,000.

Christmas Seals Go Out This Week In 6,000 Envelopes

Pettis countians will receive their supply of Christmas Seals this week and in return the Pettis County Tuberculosis Society will receive funds which will help carry on the fight against tuberculosis.

Mrs. John G. Crawford, secretary of the association, mailed out 6,000 of the stamps during the week-end and in addition sent letters to business firms telling of the seal sale.

Several Girls Scouts and friends of Mrs. Crawford helped with preparing the seals for mail, but Mrs. Crawford did most of the work herself, having to handle all 6,000 envelopes about six times each.

Boy Scouts assisted the campaign by distributing placards in the downtown stores.

Tax Deal Inquiry Widens

Indications Point To More Ousters; Rep. Curtis Says McGrath Should Go

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—(AP)—The Congressional investigation of federal tax scandals was pushed on a widened front today amid reports that other heads may roll in the wake of President Truman's firing of assistant Attorney General T. Lamar Caudle.

A House Ways and Means Committee mapped new hearings for Monday into Southern California tax matters as President Truman was reported in Key West to have passed the word that a government house cleaning is in prospect.

At the same time Rep. Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo) stated in Washington that "the obvious next step is to fire Attorney General J. Howard McGrath."

A highly placed White House adviser had said earlier that Mr. Truman's firing of Caudle as chief of the Justice Department tax division "is just a starter."

Others May Expect The Same

Caudle resigned "by request" because of his "outside activities," and Mr. Truman was reported to have said other government executives may expect the same treatment if their own outside activities however legal — contribute to charges against the administration.

Newsmen were told the President had his anger up "over disclosures that have reflected on him and his administration."

"He hopes that any of those whose activities are open to question will step out of their own accord," The White House source stated.

The demand for McGrath's ouster was made by Curtis in a statement which said the attorney general "shares equal responsibility for Caudle's outside activities, including his notorious expense-paid trip to Italy this summer in behalf of two wine merchants."

McGrath Failed His Duty

"Additionally, Mr. McGrath, as head of the Department of Justice is responsible for that department's failure to act not only in the serious Internal Revenue scandals, but also in his obvious refusal to perform his duties when the disclosures of wrongdoing involving the Reconstruction Finance Corporation became known."

In the meantime, House investigators laid plans to move rapidly ahead with the inquiry into reports of widespread misconduct in the nation's tax collecting service.

Caudle, as head of the tax division charged with prosecuting tax fraud cases, has been under committee investigation and is to be the chief witness at hearings starting Nov. 26.

In advance of these hearings, the committee next Monday goes into closed door sessions to investigate rumored mishandling of tax cases in southern California.

6 In One Family Hurt In Accident On US 40

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Nov. 17—(AP)—Six members of a family were injured, one critically, in a collision on U. S. highway 40 in Wyandotte county tonight.

Nancy Pierce, 9, suffered head injuries and was reported in critical condition at a hospital. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Pierce of near Edwardsville, Kas., and their three younger children suffered bruises and lacerations. The family was in a panel truck.

Elmo Soderstorm, 53, Leavenworth, Kas., driver of a car that collided with the truck, suffered a broken collarbone, ankle fracture and rib injuries.

Burglars Make Habit Of Robbing KC Firm

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 17—(AP)—Larry Lewis fears he has become the victim of habit—on the part of burglars.

Two weeks ago they broke a window at his foundry and carted off 2,000 pounds of scrap and ingot brass, valued at $500.

He fixed the window, but a week later burglars again broke it, and as before, carted off a ton of brass.

Lewis then blocked the window with heavy planks. But early today burglars pried them off, and again carted off 2,000 pounds of brass.

Lewis says he is going to fit the window with iron bars next time.

'Indians' Hit Warpath In The Mohawk Valley

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 17—(AP)—The Mohawk Valley, once famous for its Indian fighting, had a new outbreak today.

This time whooping "Indians," of the juvenile variety, attacked the New York Central railroad's eastbound Advance Empire State Express with bows and arrows as the train slowed for a stop at Utica.

The engineer, Jerry Dwyer of Syracuse, suffered a slight arrow wound in the right arm.

Railroad officials said the incident was reported when the train reached Albany. They said the youngsters who "attacked" the train were attired in full Indian regalia.

US Has Awarded 2,100 Medals Of Honor In Five Major Wars

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—(AP)—The Medal of Honor, in various forms and for varying degrees of valor, has been awarded about 2,100 times through almost 90 years and five major wars.

But only in the three latest conflicts—World War I and II and Korea—has it always been conferred for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity "above and beyond the call of duty."

Indeed, in 1917 the government struck 911 names from the roll of the Medal's winners. A board decided their deeds did not qualify them for the decoration. The majority of them had won the Medal in the Civil War and these included the only woman who ever won the Medal of Honor. She was Dr. Mary Walker, a nurse who attended wounded under fire on the battlefield.

The Medal was first authorized on Dec. 21, 1862.

Although it always has been intended for individual, conspicuous bravery the Medal has not always been issued entirely for that reason. Army historians say that an entire regiment during the Civil War, whose tour of federal duty was about to expire, was persuaded from packing up and going home only when medals were issued to the whole regiment. On the other hand, most of the Civil War medals appear to have been awarded for true acts of valor.

Rules Became Strict In 1917

Beginning with World War I, the measure of courage and heroism and the system of recommendations and reviews by boards that preceded awards became strict.

The regulations now used provide that:

"The deed performed must have been one of personal bravery or self-sacrifice above and beyond the call of duty, so conspicuous as to clearly distinguish the individual for gallantry and intrepidity above his or her comrades and must have involved risk of life or performance of more than ordinarily hazardous service, the omission of which would not justly subject the person to censure for shortcoming or failure in the performance of duty. Incontestable proof of the performance of the service will be exacted and each recommendation for the award of this decoration will be considered on the standard of extra-ordinary merit."

Any person in the military service who has knowledge of an act of valor he believes merits the Medal of Honor may initiate a recommendation for award. It must be accompanied by at least two eyewitness accounts, together with other supporting information.

Chain Of Command Takes-Over

This proposal then goes into what the military calls the "chain of command"—to the commander of a unit or ship, to a field or theater commander and on up until it reaches the Army, Navy or Air Force adjutant general in Washington.

A decorations board of the service then decides, using all the recommendations and eyewitness reports gathered in the file, whether the valorous action is worthy of the Medal of Honor or some lesser award. If the board approves, the recommendation then must be approved by the chief of staff or chief of naval operations and then by the service secretary.

It is awarded by the President in the name of Congress, which has led to frequent references to it as the "Congressional Medal of Honor."

There are two medals of honor —the Army-Air Force Medal and the Navy Medal.

Over the years it was inevitable that there should be controversies about who should and who should not receive the high military decoration. The 1917 action rescinding the award in the 911 cases was an instance of general governmental action.

A new and individual controversy occurred a week ago when the father of a Marine officer killed in Korea wrote President Truman to ask whether the father's criticism of the President had prevented the award of a Medal of Honor to the son.

A White House Secretary, Joseph Short, later told reporters that Mr. Truman held the Medal of Honor "so sacred that he would not tolerate anyone tampering with the procedures that are set up for giving the Medal."

Moreover, Short said, the President has nothing to do with selection of individuals who receive combat decorations, except to present them personally, on some occasions, to the winners or to the next of kin who survive them.

Three Die In Collision Of Airplanes

OAKLAND, Calif., Nov. 17—(AP)—Two four-engined transport planes on training flights—one was flying blind on instruments—crossed tails in a collision 2,000 feet above Oakland airport today.

One tail-less transport spun to earth and exploded, killing its crew of three and burning nine persons in automobiles near the crash scene.

The other transport, with a stabilizer wrecked, limped to a safe landing with three aboard across the bay at San Francisco airport.

One of the nine burned was a boy, Donald Gaskin, who looked up a moment before the doomed Overseas National Airways plane hit—just in time to "see two pilots throw up their hands in front of their faces."

Donald was among eight of ten boys in a pickup truck who were burned, none seriously.

List Of Dead

The Overseas National fliers killed were Marion H. Click, 30, San Lorenzo, Calif., George Garrard, 32, Oakland, and Warren C. Gessner, 26, Sacramento, Calif.

Chief Pilot Ralph Shope, Oakland, landed the crippled California-Eastern Air Lines Transport at San Francisco's Milles Field.

Capt. W. B. Kinner of Long Beach, Calif., was at the controls of the California-Eastern plane when the crash occurred. "I was flying under the hood (blind flying to practice instrument flight) for a six-months check by Captain Shope," he said. The two captains and the third man aboard, Engineer Louis Goldberg of Alameda, said they felt only a jar.

Goldberg said "I looked up and this plane was right on top of us.

Captain Shope said "I looked out the right window and saw the plane and it was then nosing down underneath."

Both planes had been cruising about 180 miles-an-hour.

Will There Be Peace Before Christmas?

UN Envoys Await Communist Answer To Truce Proposal

MUNSAN, Korea, Sunday, Nov. 18—(AP)—Allied and Communist negotiators adjourned today until tomorrow with no hint of Red reaction to a dramatic Untied Nations plan which would provide a Korean armistice before Christmas.

MUNSAN, Korea, Sunday, Nov. 18—(AP)—The Communists may reply today to a dramatic Allied proposal to complete a Korean armistice within 30 days—a week before Christmas.

Subcommittees of the opposing sides were to meet at Panmunjom Saturday for the promised Red reaction.

The United Nations negotiators Saturday made this four-point proposal:

1. Hostilities to continue until a full armistice is signed:

2. The present battleline to form a provisional cease-fire line and basis for a provisional demilitarized zone;

3. This line and zone to become the final version provided a complete armistice is reached within 30 days; and

4. If an armistice is not completed within the deadline, the negotiators will start over by drawing a new provisional cease-fire line based on wherever the battle line may be at that time.

Red Reaction Favorable

The Communists said the proposal "seems in the main to be in accordance with our principles," but said they wanted to ponder it. They promised to give their detailed "comments" at Sunday's session.

Communist acceptance would mean renewed meetings by the full five-member truce delegations for consideration of these other armistice points:

Exchange of prisoners; behind-the-lines inspections to make sure an armistice is observed; and recommendations on eventual withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea.

With a new Allied divisional attack in progress on the western front and sharp action all along the line, there was the prospect that the battle line would change in the Allied favor if the Communists did not accept promptly.

New Issue Arises

It seemed probable that the question of exchanging prisoners would inject Communist atrocities into the armistice talks.

Gen Mathew B. Ridgway, supreme allied commander, verified Saturday an Eighth Army officer's report that approximately 5,500 U. S. prisoners of war had been slaughtered by the Reds since hostilities began nearly 17 months ago.

Allies Score Major Gains In New Push

SEOUL, Korea, Sunday, Nov. 18 (AP)—A three-pronged Allied drive smashed across the upper Pukhan river and into the peaks beyond Saturday in a surprise attack on Korea's central front.

By midnight the U. N. troops had advanced up to 3,000 yards—nearly two miles. To do it they stormed heights that rose in places to 3,000 feet.

An Allied division carried the brunt of the assault. Allied attacks on each flank gave the storming party massive support.

The limited objective attack wiped out a four-mile section of the twisting Pukhan river line southeast of Kumsong.

Chinese Reds, startled and caught off balance, offered only token resistance. Action leveled off to only sporadic rifle fire.

On the Western front the Chinese launched an attack of their own and captured a single hill position from a British battalion, the King's Shropshire Light Infantry.

Tanks Support Advance

The Allied drive on the central front, backed by tanks and planes, was the major operation in the new outbreak of fighting across the war-torn peninsula.

Allied pilots noted a sharp increase in vehicular traffic along the main Red Korean supply route Saturday night. They attacked almost 1,800 vehicles during the hours of darkness and claimed 177 destroyed.

The Far East Air Forces said their planes flew 985 sorties Saturday, including attacks on Red airfields, rail yards and supply routes.

Allied carrier-based warplanes were also out in force. Marine Devilcats from the carrier Renodva off the Korean west coast flew a record number of sorties. Allied naval headquarters did not give the exact number.

The aircraft carrier Essex returned to eastern Korean waters after undergoing repairs in Japan, replacing the carrier Antietam.

Planes from the Essex and Bon Homme Richard hammered Red traffic facilities, supply dumps and troop concentrations.

The divisional drive along a nine-mile-wide front southeast of Kumsong, was set up when an Allied battalion paddled across the Pukhan river late Friday night.

11 Hills Quickly Taken

At dawn Saturday the whole force jumped off and, by early afternoon, had wrested 11 heights from the Chinese Communists.

"We caught the enemy by complete surprise," one officer said. "They had no idea we were coming."

Nevertheless, quick Red reaction brought close-quarters fighting with bayonets and grenades at one unidentified spot.

Kumsong is a one-time Red supply base 30 miles north of the old North-South Korean boundary.

None of the units engaged was identified.

On the western front, a smaller Allied force threw the Reds off a hill that a Chinese battalion had seized Friday. Artillery preparation made the task easy.

On the eastern front southeast of the coastal town of Kosong, the Eighth army reported Allied forces were "heavily engaged" as they counter-attacked to regain ground recently lost to a North Korean battalion. Farther inland on the eastern front, three Red companies were attacking northwest of the hotly contended Punchbowl area.

Elsewhere all along the front both sides maintained feeler patrols.

Red Plane Damaged

In the air, a week-long lull ended abruptly as ten U. S. F-86 Sabrejets fought 35 Russian-made MIG jets over northwest Korea. Despite the disparity of numbers, the Fifth Air Force reported one MIG was damaged and all Sabres returned safely.

Bridges Leave Hospital

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 17—(AP)— U. S. Senator Styles Bridges (R-NH) was released from Blodgett Memorial hospital today and plans to return to Washington Sunday morning. He was stricken here with intestinal influenza Tuesday while covering a lecture engagement. His physicians reported him in good condition today.

Advance Group Exceeds Its Goal For Chest Drive

First to reach—and exceed—its quota in the 1951 Community Chest fund raising campaign is the advance committee, of which R. A. Malone is chairman. A total of $7,364.50 in cash and pledges has been secured by the nine members of the division: Phillip McLaughlin, the Rev. J. W. Watts, Jack Crawford, Joe Ruddick, Bert Goldman, Robert Wall, Abe Silverman, I. H. Reed and A. W. Klang, Jr. The quota of the advance division was $7,000.00.

Mrs. Bert Stevens, chairman of a division soliciting for the fund in Elk Fork township, reported $23 yesterday, with three of her workers still making their solicitations.

The first two contributions have been received from local club's and organizations: Eastern Star No. 279, $10 and Women of the Moose, $5.

With total gifts to date at $17,205.86, Harry Naugel, director, and George Lockett, general chairman, expressed the hope that all workers would conclude their solicitation this week to attain the goal of $29,257.

Additional reports received have added the following firms to the list of those who have given 100 per cent, both firm and employees: Ewer's Grocery, Midwest Auto Stores, Fechtel Sales company, Gwinn's Grocery, Herrick Oil Products, General Wood Products and Coca Cola Bottling company.

Holdup Man Kills Merchant In KC

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 17—(AP)—Albert Silk, owner of an auto supply store, was shot to death here today.

Police said they thought Silk was the victim of a holdup man.

Witnesses, said the police, saw Silk collapse at the front door of his store just as a gunman fled.

'Shipments Lag Far Behind'

Senator Says Gen. Olmsted Confuses ETO Arms Reports

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—(AP)—Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) sharply accused a top Defense officer today of "confusing and misleading" reports on arms shipments to Europe.

Instead of being "well ahead of schedule," Johnson said the facts are that the shipments "are lagging far behind the originally programmed schedules."

Johnson is chairman of the Senate preparedness subcommittee which has been running a check on the whole defense program. The group has complained that the rate of defense production has been too slow.

His blast today was aimed directly at Maj. Gen. George H. Olmsted, director of the Office of Military Assistance.

Olmsted called in reporters Wednesday and told them that arms deliveries for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) actually were ahead of what "we told Congress we would be able to do by this time."

Secret Labels Back Report

The general even removed secret labels on some shipments to France to back up his reports.

Senator Johnson, in a lengthy statement, said he "was surprised and even shocked" to read this.

The Senator said Olmsted's public reports contradicted secret data previously given the preparedness subcommittee. He sent Senate investigators to ask an explanation from the general.

Johnson said the truth was that "when the original schedules for arms shipments to NATO countries broke down," military assistance officials set up new schedules they knew could be met "and then blithely announced that everything was ahead of schedule."

"This is an outstanding example of the type of thing that has created widespread suspicion concerning the integrity of our government," the Senator said. "The public has become weary of confusing and misleading pictures of conditions painted by officials who apparently do not believe that the public can be trusted with the facts."

'A Very Depressing Picture'

Johnson said he could pick out parts of the secret military reports on European arms shipments that "could paint a very black and depressing picture."

"That black and depressing picture would not reflect the facts accurately," he continued. "But it would be as valid as the super-optimistic view presented to the public by General Olmsted."

Johnson said he is "not seeking to blame General Olmsted for the failure to deliver arms to NATO countries on schedule."

He said studies by the subcommittee staff indicate that the "lag is due to circumstances beyond his control."

More Atrocity Data Requested

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—(AP)—A new request for clarification of questions arising out of the Korean atrocity reports was sent to the Tokyo high command today from defense headquarters here.

An Army colonel reported Wednesday that nearly 6,000 Allied soldiers—5,500 of them Americans—had been slaughtered by their Communist captors since the outbreak of the war.

Today Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U. N. Commander in the Far East, confirmed that the Reds had committed atrocities though he did not specifically mention the number.

His statement followed a request from the Army Department for further information.

The Defense Department moved into the situation today. Clayton Fritchey, director of public information, disclosed that the department had sent its own urgent request to Ridgway.

Meanwhile, Army spokesmen indicated that Army headquarters here still was without detailed information it had requested, including how Col. James M. Hanley, Eighth Army judge advocate, had arrived at his estimate of the figures used.

Indians In Missouri Ate Well In Season on Variety of Food

Indians in Missouri ate almost anything in hard times, but in plentiful seasons they dined abundantly on a variety of native foods.

It was the duty of the braves to "bring home the bacon" in the form of wild game. Indian women cultivated the crops. They planted haphazard fields of Indian corn, or maize, with beans, pumpkins, and squash scattered among the stalks. Potatoes could be kept for winter, and melons were enjoyed in the summer months.

Corn was the great staple food of Indian tribes throughout the Midwest, and formed the basis of their year-round diet. It was easy to store, nutritious, and it tasted good whether fresh off the cob or ground into meal. The squaws made bread by stirring cornmeal, salt and boiling water into cakes and baking them in hot ashes. A traveler visiting a Missouri camp of the Little Osages in 1811 was handed a bowl of square pieces of cake which he thought tasted like gingerbread. He found they were made of the pulp of the persimmon mixed with pounded corn.

Hominy, from the Indian word, auhuminea, was a dish adopted enthusiastically by Missouri pioneers. The Indians made hominy by boiling corn grains in the lye of wood ashes until the hard skin separated, then pouring the lot into a basket which was dipped up and down in clean water until the lye and skins were removed. The remainder was cooked until soft enough to eat.

The explorer Bossu, crossing the country which is now Missouri in the 1750's, ate an Indian dish called sagamite, made from a gruel of maize flour sweetened with maple syrup. The thought it "tolerably good and refreshing." Rations for braves on the warpath consisted of a small bag of parched cornmeal which they mixed with water to eat.

In season, the Indians ate crabapples, may-apples, blackberries, grapes, nuts, and wild strawberries. They cooked pash-e-quah, a large root resembling the sweet potato, with a chestnut flavor. When food was scarce, Indians ate acorns mixed with buffalo grease, regarded as a last resort next to acorns alone. The Osages used the black seeds of the lily pod, called yawhapen, ground into meal for food.

Buffalo, bear, and venison meat, and ducks and turkeys were roasted over an open fire, boiled, or wrapped in leaves and baked among hot coals. Missouri Indians ate fish only when they could not find meat or poultry.

They most generally threw everything in a pot and boiled it into soup. Indians often made soup composed of corn boiled in water with meat, grease, and beans, seasoned with rock salt. Each person had his private wooden bowl and spoon to serve himself.

Persimmons were preserved in cakes with layers of buffalo grease and honey found in bee trees was a favorite dessert. Where there were sugar maples the Indians made quantities of sugar from the syrup, but they were so find of it that they rarely had any left after the sugaring season.

Although buffalo grease sounds like a rough form of shortening today, modern cooks might envy some of the Indian combinations of maple syrup or persimmon pulp with corn meal. Since the proof of the pudding is in the eating, it is too bad that no samples are available.

PILOT GROVE

Night Class In Welding Free to Public

By Mrs. G. H. Coleman

PILOT GROVE—An adult evening class in farm weldnig was started at the nigh school Wednesday evening, Nov. 15, and will continue for a 10-week period. Practical aspects of welding, types of welders, the how and why of various methods will be discussed. There is no charge for this course as it is sponsored by the agricultural department as a community service. Byron Becker will teach the class and anyone interested is invited to take the course.

Mrs. Ernest Kella entertained the members of the Sewing club of Boonville at the home of Mrs. A. J. Wolfe Monday evening.

Mrs. Ray Jones and daughter, Mrs Russell Sapp and children, Randy and Gayle, and Mrs. Ritchie Bedsford of Columbia visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Johnson and family.

Japanese Cement Expensive

BRISBANE, Australia — (AP) — Queenslanders are buying thousands of bags of Japanese cement at nearly four times the price of locally produced cement.

Reason is that there is not enough local cement to go around.

It is expected that Queensland importers will sell nearly 30,000 tons of cement from Japan and the East by Christmas.

It's the happy way to drive!
TIME-PROVED POWERGlide
AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION
CHEVROLET

No wonder the owner of a Powerglide Chevrolet is happy! Here's how it works. Set the lever to "Drive." Use the accelerator to go—the brake to stop. And you're off for the greatest driving thrill of your life.
Ask any of the more than 500,000 motorists who have proved Powerglide over more than a billion owner-driven miles. That's a record no other automatic transmission in the low-price field can touch . . . and ask them, too, about the satin-smooth performance, the velvet pick-up of Powerglide.
If you haven't yet tried Powerglide, don't wait any longer. Come in soon for a "discovery drive." Find out for yourself the new happy way to drive with time-proved Powerglide.
More people buy Chevrolets than any other car!
*Combination of Powerglide Automatic Transmission and 105-h.p. Valve-in-Head Engine optional on De Luxe models at extra cost.
Chevrolet alone offers this complete Power Team!
POWERGlide Automatic Transmission*
Gives you simpler, smoother, safer no-shift driving at lowest cost. No clutch pedal—no gearshifting—not even a hint of gear changes in forward driving!
Extra-Powerful 105-h.p. Valve-in-Head Engine
Powerglide is coupled with the most powerful engine in the low-price field—Chevrolet's extra-efficient 105-h.p. Valve-in-Head Engine—the trend leader for the industry.
EconoMiser Rear Axle
Rear wheels travel farther at each engine revolution . . . fewer engine revolutions and less gas at highway speeds. Result: traditional Chevrolet economy in over-all driving.
Oil Does It All!
Oil replaces gears in the Powerglide Transmission. No direct mechanical connection between engine and rear axle. You have an infinite number of drive ratios.

Brockman Brothers Are Reunited In Korea; One Sees Other Wounded During a Battle

Just about a year ago Melvin V. Brockman, 21, and Verdean Brockman, 19, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur A. Brockman, 1916 South Stewart, enlisted in the Army a week apart.

Melvin had been working on a farm for Gene Helman, route 4, and not to far away on the farm of Paul Reed, route 4, Verndean and his father work. They all came home every day for lunch and, with their mother, had a grand time together.

But the boys felt they should go into service and so they did.

Then, seven months ago, they were both sent overseas to Korea. One went by ship and one by plane.

Things hadn't been very good for either of them—for things are not too good for any soldier in Korea., Then suddenly there was a very bright spot on the horizon. It was roll call time for chow and as Verndean sat listening he heard Melvin's name called and the brothers were togethed again—so glad to see each other that it was the next thing to being home.

The reunion came at the "Victory" Division Replacement company and they were assigned to Love Company of the 19th "Rock of Chickamagua" Regiment.

They entered the company as riflemen and were assigned to different platoons. Both were made assistant machine gunners at the same time, then squad leaders and finally both were promoted to corporal.

But the brothers didn't stop there—they were later promoted to sergeants the same day.

When asked about their similar advancements, Verndean replied: "I guess we tried to outdo each other, but it didn't work."

However, since then, Verndean went up another notch to sergeant 1/c, but Melvin has been wounded and just as soon as he gets out of the hospital and back to the fighting he is going to catch up with Verndean.

Verndean had some bad moments there on that fighting line. He had just seen his buddy killed and then he saw his brother carried off the battlefield. He didn't know how bad he was hurt and there wasn't a thing he could do but keep on fighting. He finally got someone to find out how serious his brother was injured and the comforting word came back that it wasn't too bad.

Marvin, by this time, is probably back in the line with him because the injury was from the explosion of a phosphorus hand grenade and his hands were not burned seriously.

BROTHERS MET IN KOREA —Melvin V. Brockman, 21, left and Verndean Brockman, 19, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Brockman, 1916 South Stewart, who met in Korea.

ENLIST IN AIR FORCES—Two Houstonians have enlisted in the U. S. Air Forces and are now in training at Lackland Air Base, San Antonio, Tex., for the next eight weeks. They are Clyde L. Lee, (left) son of Mrs. Pearl Bailey, and James W. Biles, (right) son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Biles. Both young men enlisted through the Sedalia Recruiting station for the Air Force and Army. Mrs. Lee and daughter will reside with her parents and Mrs. Biles with her parents, both in Houstonia.

FIGHTING IN KOREA — Sgt. Robert James Wilkie, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wilkie, Smithton, route 1, who expects to be home on Thanksgiving from Korea. Sgt. Wilkie enlisted for three years and spent a year in Germany. He was home on a six months' active reserve leave, when it was necessary to help on the farm during his father's illness. He was then sent to Korea, fighting with the Fifth regiment for the past few months, with only a day or two off the firing line several times. His time was up three months ago, but because of the need of experienced soldiers in Korea he re-enlisted for three months.

Love Feast Draws Crowd From Outstate

By Mrs. Russell Kendrick

KNOB NOSTER — The annual Love Feast and Communion service of the old German Baptist church, north of town, was attended by approximately 200. People from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Kansas were there.

Mrs. A. C. Teague was hostess to members of the Sunshine Pals Extension club at her home Friday afternoon. Eleven members and six children were present. The program, "International Day", was presented by Mrs. E. O. Price, Mrs. Kelly Neitzert and Mrs. A. W. Tharrington.

The following officers were installed: Mrs. Kelly Neitzert, president; Mrs. C. S. Elliott, treasurer; Mrs. Walter Wimer, reporter; Mrs. Milton Kendrick, song leader; Mrs. Price, game leader.

A pot luck supper for members and their families will be held at held at the home of Mrs. Elmo Lay, Nov. 19.

Members of the W. S. C. S. of the Methodist church held an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. James Rowland, south of town, Thursday. Fourteen members and two visitors, Mrs. Virgil Lane and Mrs. Grover Glazebrook were present. Mrs. Elmo Lay, leader, reviewed the book, "We Americans, North and South." She was assisted by Mrs. William M. Hanks, Mrs. Leonard Clark, Mrs. George Talley, Mrs. Lloyd D. Wasson, Mrs. O. P. Peithman and Mrs. Byron Lane. A contributive lunch was served at noon.

Mrs. Russell Kendrick returned home from Grandview Tuesday evening following a short visit with her daughter, Mrs. Marvin F. Blaine, Mr. Blaine, and daughter, Barbara Ann.

Mrs. Jack Saults entertained her bridge club at her home Wednesday afternoon. There were two tables and Mrs. Bob Carr and Mrs. C. S. Rodes played substitute hands. Mrs. Milton Kendrick received the trophy for high score and Mrs. Rhodes received the travel award. The hostess served a dessert course.

Philip Matthews has returned to his home in Dimmit, Tex., following a 10 week visit with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Utley and son, R. H.

Mrs C. F. Covey spent from Tuesday until Thursday in Kansas City with Mrs. Bess Clyatt and family

Smith-Cotton High News—

Senior Class Presents Varied Program In Assembly Wed.

By Ruth Maurene Hoffman

The senior high school assembly at Smith-Cotton Nov. 14 was given by the speech department with Stanley Walch as master of ceremonies. Alberta Lane gave a humorous reading. A skit was presented by James Cable and Bill Hammond with Don Barnes as narrator. Pat Keel sang two vocal solos accompanied by "Chuck" Walch. Ann Wollet played a piano solo and also accompanied Don Allcorn, who sang two numbers. Kay Beth Sublett and Shirley Luckey presented a skit.

Tie in Debate

The speech tournament held Nov. 15 between St. Paul's in Concordia and Smith-Cotton tied, with each school winning the same number of debates. In case of a tie in debate, however, the individual scores are totaled. Here Smith-Cotton won by the margin of six points.

Hobby Show a Success

Miss Catherine Riner's freshman English classes, with the cooperation of Miss Elizabeth Gray, junior librarian, presented a hobby show in the junior library Nov. 12 to 16. Those sponsoring the show were well pleased with the result since all hobbies displayed were of high caliber.

Thelma Bouton exhibited her handsomely crocheted table cloths and centerpieces. Martha Combs showed her crocheted and embroidered edgings, while Virgina Russel displayed crocheted doll clothes and pot holders.

Larry Owen showed his handcarved collection of automobile models in addition to bronze horse models. The Nazi flag, pennants, and foreign money were displayed by Robert Browning. Beverly Carl exhibited foreign paper money and her stamp collection.

Glenda Rhoads showed handmade greeting cards and a sampler. Patsy Young displayed embroidered pillow slips. Jerald Bethke showed his shell collection. Willis Ann Rosenthal exhibited collections of stamps and playing cards.

Bernice Bacon displayed perfume bottles and Virginia Lessley salt and pepper shakers. Barbara Salmons exhibited arrowheads while Jeannette Edmundson and Michael Stickel displayed rock collections. Ray Morrison showed his model planes and Ann Heffernan a collection of horse figurines.

Girl Scouts' Glow Candle Demonstration

There will be a special demonstration of the "Glow Candle" in the Girl Scout office on Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 for all interested leaders. A special instruction class on Girl Scout ceremonies will be given at 2:30 the same day in the office.

Fifty-five persons attended the workshop on Tuesday of this week at the church basement at Tenth and Osage. Mrs. C. A. Freeberg and Mrs. Mary Houston were in charge of arrangements for the day.

The annual Girl Scout Registration party will be held at the Fox theatre on Saturday, Dec. 1, at 10 a.m. Tickets will be available for all girls who have registered.

The troops are starting to use some of the many crafts that they have learned on Christmas gifts for their parents. No one is prouder than the little girl who can give a gift that she made with her hands. The Girl Scout leaders try to teach their troops to use their hands and imagination in the arts and craft field.

Prize winners in the Thanksgiving tray favor contest are: for the Intermediates, Barbara Freund, and the Brownies, Karen Cramer of St. Patrick's school.

Troop 8 of Mark Twain school, with Mrs. Paul Even and Mrs. John Stacey as leaders, made Thanksgiving tray favors for Bothwell hospital.

Whittier school-Troop 10, met and elected the following officers: president, Barbara Arnold; vice-president, Peggy Neidholt; secretary, Judy McDonald; treasurer, Patty Huffman; song leader, Joann Patrick. The troop held a spelling bee with the third grade girls beating the fourth grade. The girls have been working on scrapbooks for Mercy hospital at the home of their leader, Mrs. Kirtley Salmons

Red Cross Reports— —

Local Red Cross Chapter Gets Recognition for Fine Record

By Theodora Finney

Robert Clough, general field representative, Red Cross area office, spent two days in Sedalia this past week, briefing the local chapter on current activities and events. He was emphatic in his remarks to the chapter chairman in regard to the excellent record of the chapter in all fields of administrative and volunteer work, stressing the fact that the Pettis county chapter ranked as "one of the best" in the whole midwestern area.

In the same connection, the office was in receipt of a pleasant letter from Charles O. Burkett, ARC field director, Veterans Administration district office, St. Louis, informing the chapter that his office was fully cognizant of the splendid work and cooperation of the chapter, and especially, the fine work done on claims.

The mobile blood unit will be back at the Armory in January. The chapter is accepting registrations now.

Heads Nurses Aides

Mrs. Herbert Zoernig has accepted the appointment of chairman of nurse aides, effective immediately.

A new group of staff aides will be formed within a short time. In making this announcement, Mrs Arthur Hoffman, chairman, wishes to stress the fact that more typists are needed in the office. Orientation will be given by Mrs. Harold Dean. Call 618 for registrations.

Work in Diabetic Clinic

The following volunteers worked during the past week at the diabetic detection clinics held at the public schools in Sedalia: Monday, Whittier, Mrs. Neal Reyburn, NA. Tuesday and Wednesday, Smith-Cotton, Mrs. I. H. Lehmer, Mrs. Dick Van Dyne, NA, Mrs. Emmett Sullivan, nurse, Mrs. A. L. Hawkins, gray lady; Thursday, Mark Twain, Jefferson and Washington, Mrs. Marion Studebaker, NA, Friday, Hubbard, Mrs. Edward Sims, Mrs. Neal Reyburn, NA.

Jr. Red Cross Month

November is Junior Red Cross month, and already enrollment reports are coming into the office. This is important, since the JRC publications cannot be distributed to the schools until their reports have been received. The gift boxes, seemingly more attractive than ever, are coming in, too. This year the children who are filling the mare using imagination, combining the useful with the unusual present. Tiny dolls nestle between soap and tooth paste, little balls and jacks lie beside a pencil set. Many more things are in the boxes. They are really beautiful, and the chapter knows from the letters received from the children in Europe just what these JRC gift boxes mean to them. Shipment will be made early in December, in plenty of time for Christmas.

Mrs. Marion H. Studebaker represented the chapter in Kansas City recently at a meeting of the blood program committee.

Simon Patino, "tin king" of Bolivia and one of South America's wealthiest men, was fired from a store-clerk job and given a "worthless" tin claim in lieu of back pay.

Guests of Molloys

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Molloy were: Mr. and Mrs. Grover Dix, Leavenworth, Kas.; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Arnold and daughter Norma Jean of Sedlia; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dix and son of Leawenworth, Kas.; Miss Una Howard of Kansas City; Miss Dorothy Dix of Kansas City; Henry Dix of Syracuse, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Decoursey of Leavenworth, Kan.

Dramatics Club Speaker At Maplewood Better Homes Club Meeting

Mrs. O. W. Wiley of the Dramatics club of Pettis county was speaker at the meeting of the Maplewood Better Homes club, Nov. 6, which met with Mrs. Howard Turner. Mrs. Carl Landes was assisting hostess. A contributed dinner was served at noon and 16 members answered roll call with something which to be thankful. Mrs. Luther Landis gave the devotional.

Mrs. Howard Turner, president, gave the council report and the club voted to send Christmas boxes to boys in the armed services in the states and overseas. Mrs. Virgil Wigton donated a wool comfort top to be finished and given to some charitable organization. Mrs. Landis, reading chairman, reported that 35 books had been read the past month.

Mrs. Frank Barrick and Mrs. Norton Hefferman were appointed dramatics committee to read and select the play to be given and the club also voted to subscribe to the "Associated Country Women of the World" magazine.

Mrs. Hefferman, community hall finance chairman, reported that the sum of $230 was made from the dinner served at the polled shorthorn cattle sale at the fair grounds last month.

The main project of the day was a talk given by Mrs. Walter Bonning on "Diabetics Clinic" to be held in the schoool and the mobile x-ray unit to be in Pettis county in January.

New 1952 leaders elected are: Mr. and Ms. James Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. John Rundlett.

Guests for the day were: Mrs. O. W. Wiley and Mrs. C. Rodenbach. Mrs. John Kelly led the social hour in playing games.

Maplewood community Thanksgiving dinner will be at 12 noon Thursday, Nov. 22, at the hall. Services at 1:30. Mrs. Luther Landis, Mrs. Frank Barrick, Mrs. Walter Rissler will be in charge of the afternoon program. The club will hold its annual Christmas party in the home of Mrs. Frank Barrick in December.

Bandits Stage $1,051 Holdup In St. Joseph

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 17—(AP)—While one bandit politely asked customers of a Safeway store to stay inside, another quietly forced the store manager to gather about $1,050 from four cash registers. The two bandits then walked out with the money today.

None of the customers in the crowded store knew a holdup was taking place.

Joseph L. Jackson, the store manager, told police a man approached him in the store, showed him a gun and told him it was a holdup. The bandit told him to open the cash registers and put all the currency in a paper sack.

Meanwhile, the other bandit acted as "doorman." He opened the door to admit incoming customers, but he asked those who sought to leave to "please wait a moment." He didn't display a weapon. The customers waited. They didn't ask why they couldn't leave.

The "doorman" stayed at the door until the bandit with the money sack walked out to a car. Then the second man walked to the car and they drove away.

Britain To Use Atomic Energy To Heat Homes

LONDON, Nov. 17—(AP)—Britain announced tonight it had developed the world's first system of house heating using atomic energy instead of scarce coal.

The ministry of supply, which supervises the nation's atomic energy program, said the first such installation of atomic radiators was being put into service Monday at Harwell, the big British Atomic Research station.

The announcement said heat drawn directly from an experimental atom pile in the research station would be used to warm an 80-room building. Later the system is to be extended to other building at Harwell.

The ministry estimated the annual saving in fuel costs at £2,650 ($7,420).

Coils of water pipes will be warmed by heat thrown off by the atomic pile but only the hot water will flow through the heating system, the announcement said, eliminating the danger of radioactivity.

Mexican Judge Denies Burroughs Injunction

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 17—(AP)—A federal judge today denied William S. Burroughs of St. Louis, Mo., an injunction against trial on a charge of killing his wife.

Burroughs was freed from prison on bond of $2,132.50 (20,000 pesos) last Sept. 20. He was charged with shooting his 27-year-old wife, Joan, at a drinking party in a GI student's apartment Sept. 6.

Judge Antonio Fernandez Vera today refused to grant an injunction against a lower court's order Sept. 10 holding the grandson of the adding machine inventor for trial. A court official said the judge's ruling, in effect, calls for Burroughs' imprisonment until the case is settled.

Burroughs' attorney, Bernabe Jurado, was reported out of the city. His secretary said he did not know whether Burroughs was still in Mexico.

Jurado had obtained Burroughs' release from prison on the plea that the shooting was, at the most, an "imprudent accident." Burroughs, 37, told the lower court judge he was looking to see whether a pistol was loaded when it went off and his wife fell mortally wounded. She died in a hospital later.

Arrive Late For Funeral

Charles R. Johnson, who is in the Navy, arrived home Thursday, called by the accidental death of his father, C. J. Johnson, 405 East Seventh on Friday, Nov. 9. He did not arrive in time for the funeral services, which were on Monday.

Mrs. Harvey Davis and son, Ray, of Seattle, Wash., arrived Tuesday, also too late for the services. Mrs. Davis, a stepdaughter of Mr. Johnson, plans to stay here awhile with her mother.

Holdup Men End Fast Dice Game

DENVER, Nov. 17 — (AP) — The Denver Post said today players in a floating barbuit game in Douglas county were robbed of $40,000 last night by five holdup men armed with machineguns.

Barbuit is a fast dice game in which players can win and lose large sums of money in a short time.

The Post, in a front page story, said according to rumors circulating in "Denver's underworld," the game took place in a building on the new highway now under construction between Denver and Castle Rock, south of Denver.

According to the story the machine gunners entered the building late at night and "shook down" the players and the operator of the game for $40,000 in a robbery which resenbled closely the unsolved $100,000 holdup of the swank Wolhurst Saddle club, near Denver, on March 10, 1946.

Meanwhile, Sheriff John Hammond of Douglas county, scoffed at the robbery report. He said no one had notified him of such a stickup and "I'm sure it could not have occurred."

The underworld report, the Post said, was that a tavern operator at last night's game was robbed of $5,000 and a diamond ring, and that another man lost $3,000 to the stickup men.

Moscow Accuses Big-3 Of Trying To Seize Trieste Territory

LONDON, Sunday, Nov. 18—(AP)—Soviet Russia accused the United States, Britain, and France of planning to carve up the free territory of Trieste between Italy and Yugoslavia and tie it to the North Atlantic Alliance as a military and naval base, the Moscow radio said early today.

The broadcast said notes were delivered in Moscow yesterday to diplomatic representatives of the big three Western powers charging them with continuing the "violation of the peace treaty with Italy which these governments have been pursuing for four years."

The Russian charges were based on "statements" the Soviets said had appeared in the press of several countries, "from which it follows that the governments of the United States, Britain and France, with the participation of the Italian and Yugoslav governments, are preparing to divide the free territory of Trieste between Italy and Yugoslavia."

Gen. Bradley Stops In Rome To Talk Shop

ROME, Nov. 17 — (AP) — Gen. Omar N. Bradley arrived here today to get some military shop talk out of the way before the opening of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization conference Nov. 24.

The chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff and Mrs. Bradley flew to Rome from Paris, where he conferred with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Bradley's last visit to Italy was in 1947, when he checked on United States troops assigned here.

With Mrs. Bradley at his side, he told newsmen he was glad to be back. He said the Roman sun felt good. It was shining brightly.

Either Sunday or Monday, he is expected to take part in talks by the standing group of representatives of the United States, British and French chiefs of staff. These representatives were U. S. Vice Adm. Jerauld Wright, French Gen. Paul Ely and British Air Marshal Sir William Elliott.

William Green Enters Washington Hospital

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, entered George Washington University hospital late today for an examination.

Phil Pearl, an information man for the union, told newsmen the labor leader became ill while at his office. He went to his hotel in a taxi, and later entered the hospital.

Pearl said he was informed by a physician that Green's condition is "good, but he will be kept in the hospital several days for some tests." He did not disclose the nature of the illness.

Skyline Conference Title Won by Utah Saturday

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 17—(AP)—Utah won the Skyline Conference championship with a 27-21 football victory over Colorado A and M today, a masterful mixture of running and passing bolstered by a steady defense.

Draft Problem Confronts The Cardinals

Two To Be Certain: Military And That Of Baseball Itself

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 17—(AP)—Two draft problems confront the St. Louis Cardinals — one, baseball's catch-as-catch-can business at Cincinnati Monday; the other, the military draft.

Thus far 95 players in the Cardinal organization have entered military service. Included in that lot is Rookie Tom Poholsky, a promising pitcher with the Redbirds last season.

Military Takes Big Toll

Eighty-seven names from the top five minor league farm clubs are on the baseball draft list. The clubs are Rochester, Columbus, O., Houston, Omaha and Columbus, Ga. Best known of the list is first baseman Nippy Jones.

Because only one player from each minor league club, plus any unrestricted players, can be drafted, the Cardinals can lose only 12 from their class A or better teams. So the military takes the bigger toll.

As the Cards' service flag takes on more stars, the casuualty list grows. In less than a month the club lost three young prospects of promise.

Ray Jankowski is Killed

Early this month the Cards learned lefthander Ray Jankowski had been killed in a training camp accident. Previously they lost pitcher Jack Cohan, who lost a leg in Korea with the Army, and catcher Cpero Spiliotis, who lost a foot while in combat with the Marines.

In just two years with the Cardinal farm teams, 22-year-old Jankowski pitched his way to a 27-9 record.

Cohan, 21, had been promoted to the parent club shortly before entering the service early this year, while Spiliotis was signed to a Hamilton, Ont., contract and showed promise in the class D pony league.

Cohan's Record Impressive

Cohan's record was the most impressive as he compiled a 2.97 earned run average with Omaha of the class A Western League in 1950. The year before he won all five playoff games to give the Birds' Lynchburg, Va., club the class B. Piedmont league championship.

During World War II the Cards saw 545 players go into the service. Nineteen were killed. Many others received the Purple Heart award.

News Editor Reports His Own Wedding, In His Own Style

CLARKS, Neb., Nov. 17—(AP)—Editor John B. Carter, 54, of the Clarks News has his own ideas about how a wedding should be reported. Especially his own.

He wrote in a recent issue of the weekly paper that he was going to depart from the "traditional raving about the bride's ensemble and tell about the groom's attire."

The newspaper's report on Carter's marriage to Myrtle Mace—"The Voice With The Smile" at the Clarks telephone exchange—described the editor's attire as "A bluish business suit consisting of coat, vest and pants (purchased from Buck Theel of Genoa last Fall—Adv.)"

"The suit had been recently cleaned and pressed. The coat fitted snugly across the back and the collar lay flat at the back of the neck with lapels on either side at the front. . . . Beneath the coat and vest was a freshly laundered white shirt purchased during the lush black market days of World War II in Wichita, Kas., about 1946, and around the neck a tie, a gift from the bride, tied in 4-in-hand style.

"The groom also wore shoes, shined and polished and laced at the front to the shoetop and tied in a small bow.

"No showers are necessary except to keep showering us with advertising and subscriptions."

Robert Hunt Undergoes Operation For Appendicitis

Robert Hunt, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. U. Hunt of 916 South Harrison, underwent an operation for appendicitis Thursday at a hospital in Shreveport, La.

His mother reported Saturday that he is well on the way to recovery.

Hunt is employed with a newspaper in Shreveport.

The Football Round-Up

Stanford Continues On Path To Rose Bowl; Illinois Tied

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—Stanford continued its rush toward a Rose Bowl bid today, but Illinois was stopped cold in its tracks and had to settle for a 0-0 tie with Ohio State as most of the major college football teams scored impressive victories.

The main exception was Texas Christian which bowed to Texas, 32-21, after hoping to pull out front in the Southwest Conference and go on to the Cotton Bowl.

Michigan State and Tennessee, the Nos. 1 and 2 elevens in the weekly Associated Press poll, each recorded victories, although they used different tactics.

The mighty Spartans, as usual, had to spurt in the second half after being tied at 14-14, at intermission, to defeat Indiana, 30-26, while the Sugar Bowl-bound Volunteers ran over Mississippi, 46-21.

Maryland Still Rolls

Maryland continued its march toward the Southern Conference crown with a 53-0 victory over North Carolina State. The Terrapins, even if approval from the Conference is not forthcoming, will meet Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl.

Georgia Tech, headed for a postseason clash in the Orange Bowl, had little trouble whipping Alabama, 27-7. Notre Dame just managed to outlast North Carolina 12-7, and Wisconsin kept its hopes alive to win the Big Ten title and get the Rose Bowl nomination by flattening Iowa, 34-7.

Stanford had rough going with Oregon State for the first half and could do no better than a 7-7 deadlock. But the Indians erupted for three touchdowns in the third period to break the contest wide open and run up a 35-14 final margin.

Stanford now is virtually assured of a Rose Bowl spot. Even if the youthful Indians lose to California next week, they'll probably get in the post-season classic.

Illini Now on Spot

Things won't be quite so easy for Illinois. If the Illini lose to Northwestern next week, Purdue loses and Wisconsin whips Minnesota the Badgers will get the title with a 5—1—1 mark. The Boilermakers will wind up with 3-2, and Illinois 4-1.

Ohio State, an in and out club all season, completely baffled the Illini and their ace back Johnny Karras who wound up his day's toll with minus 11 yards gained in 14 tries. Nor could Ohio State bulwark, Vic Janowicz do anything noteworthy. In fact, he fumbled once on his own 8-yard line.

Each team had several scoring opportunities, but neither could cash in. In the end, it was the big Ohio State line that held the Illini in check.

Texas' victory over T.C.U. threw the Horned Toads into a tie with Rice for the Southwest Conference lead, each with three victories and one defeat. Rice turned back Texas A and M, 28-13. Southern Methodist swamped Arkansas—a team that has been throwing monkey wrenches into championship hopes all season—47-7. Baylor, one-time leader, defeated Wake Forest, 42-0.

Princeton Smothers Yale

The longest winning streak among major teams continued unabated when Princeton smothered Yale, 27-0. It was no. 21 for the men from Tigertown, and just about assured them of the Ivy League title for the second year in a row. Harvard beat Brown, 34-21, and Cornell overcame Dartmouth, 21-13, in other league games.

Penn nipped Army, 7-6, and Navy gained its first vvictory of the year, 21-7, at the expense of Columbia. Boston College upset Villanova, 20-13. Syracuse blanked Colgate, 9-0, and Fordham tripped Temple, 35-6, in other major eastern games.

In the South, Kentucky, its gears finally meshing smoothly, warmed up to its task of facing Tennessee next week by crushing George Washington, 47-13. Tulane edged Vanderbilt, 14-10; Georgia walloped Auburn, 46-14; William and Mary shaded Duke, 14-13, and Virginia nipped South Carolina, 28-27.

Sooners Cinch Tie

Northwestern pulled out a 6-0 victory over Michigan and Purdue clouted Minnesota, 19-13, in Big Ten games. Marquette slapped Detroit, 26-13, and Oklahoma scored its 25th straight Big Seven triumph—and assured itself of at least a tie in the loop—by slaughtering Iowa State, 35-6.

On the West Coast, California squeezed past Oregon, 28-26, Washington and U.C.L.A. played a 20-20 tie and Washington State overwhelmed Montana, 47-10.

Saigh Discusses Future Of Marty

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 17—(AP)—Owner Fred Saigh and Manager Marty Marion met today and discussed Marion's future with the St. Louis Cardinals, but a decision was put off at least until Tuesday.

It isn't so much a case of whether Marion is wanted, but for how long.

The former shortstop wants a two-year contract, Saigh said, "and he made a good case, too."

Saigh said agreements for more than one year "are against my policy."

"I told Marty I thought I'd be able to give him a decision Tuesday when I get back from the draft meeting at Cincinnati," Saigh said.

Marion described today's meet as "very satisfactory and enjoyable."

Stanford Virtually Assured Bid To The Rose Bowl

PALO ALTO, Calif., Nov. 17—(AP) — Stanford's unbeaten-untied Indians scored three touchdowns in a wild second half to defeat Oregon State 35-14 today and clinch at least a tie for the Pacific Coast Conference title.

The Indians' victory today virtually assured them the Rose Bowl bid.

Jewell Accepts The Corn Bowl Bid

LIBERTY, Mo., 17—(AP)—The William Jewell football squad today voted to accept a bid to play in the Corn Bowl at Bloomington, Ill., on Thanksgiving Day.

The Missourians' opponents in the game will be Lewis College of Lockport, Ill.

William Jewell has won seven games and lost two this season.

THE SEDALIA ROTARY CLUB

takes this opportunity to thank everyone in Sedalia and this area who helped in any way in the successful promotion of the Black Hills Passion Play.

As sponsors of this great production, it was indeed gratifying to have the assistance of so many Sedalia and Central Missouri people in bringing the Black Hills Passion Play message to the thousands who were able to attend.

The Sedalia Rotary Club
F. Emory Bowman, President.
Dr. Glenn Lindley, Passion Play Chairman.

The Pilgrim Fathers founded the first Thanksgiving in 1621, when they gathered for a festival to give thanks for the plentiful harvest they had reaped in this new country.

This year on Thanksgiving Day, let us give thanks for the growth and development of this country; its fertile lands and bountiful natural resources; and above all for the privilege of living in this "land of plenty."

Ripley's Believe-It-or-Not Relics On Display Here Now

You can't tell a lie when you're up against this African lie detector. And if you tell a lie, this native wood carving will let everyone around know that you're lying. It is one of Robert Ripley's "Believe It or Not" museum pieces.

Robert Ripley's personal collection of "Believe It or Not" oddities, being exhibited on national tour under auspices of Disabled American Veterans, is being presented in Sedalia by Charles Irbin Farr Chapter, No. 7, D. A. V.

Believe It or Not cartoons have been appearing in newspapers throughout the world for years. On display in this exhibit will be some of the original drawings picturing facts which many found difficult to believe. The greater portion of the exhibit features part of Ripley's amazing collection of the authentic original subjects on which the cartoons are based. Every item is selected from the unusual assortment of strange things which Mr. Ripley spared no effort or expense to unearth during his endless explorations of all parts of the world.

The mobile exhibit is mounted on a special custom-built trailer, featuring mysterious oddities from darkest Africa. Included are such rare items as the African Hate God, primitive clubs and knives, a cannibal drum made of human skin, a necklace of human bones, as well as countless articles of African witchcraft, art and black magic.

Also to be shown are a large number of rare relics and collector's items, such as the "world's oldest unpaid bill" and Jesse James' first pistol, Believe It or Not!

Location of the showing will be in front of the court house. Admission is free, and the exhibit be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Any funds raised through voluntary donations will be used by the State Department and the Chapters of the Disabled American Veterans in the state where the contributions are made, to assist them in carrying on their services to disabled veterans.

Rosalee Allcorn and Linda Sue Schlobohm.

Games were played under the direction of Mrs. W. A. Green and prizes awarded to the winners, after which refreshments were served.

Past District Governor Will Be at Rotary

Lawrence D. Jones, Jefferson City, immediate past district governor of Rotary International and executive secretary of the Missouri Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, will speak Monday before the regular meeting of the Sedalia Rotary club at the Bothwell hotel.

The speaker is a native of Independence, where he was educated in the public schools and later at the University of Missouri at Columbia. He began his public career in the days when the chautauqua was popular and this influence has left its undeniable mark on Mr. Jones, who has a speaking style both instructive and entertaining.

Mr. Jones is currently chairman of the 196th district committee of Rotary International for the Paul Harris foundation. The foundation was created upon the death of the founder of Rotary as a lasting life memorial and the funds from the foundation are used for the purpose of expanding and extending that part of the object of Rotary which stresses the advancement of international understanding, good will, and peace through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service.

Through this program, graduate study of one year is provided in the form of fellowships for successful candidates nominated by the various districts of Rotary throughout the world. The plan is to provide unusual students who qualify with an opportunity of study abroad in whatever subject they may choose. In addition to outstanding scholastic achievement, the candidates must speak the language in which the subject materials is taught and they must profess an interest in a career which will help to achieve the purposes of the Rotary object in its international relationships.

Mr. Jones is well-known in Sedalia through his activity in the Lake of the Ozarks council of the Boy Scouts of America, of which Sedalia is a part, and as a Rotarian. During the past year he attended the assembly of past officers of Rotary International at Lake Placid, N. Y. where a concentrated study was made of the international purposes of Rotary and the Rotary foundation is executed. One hundred students are currently now being screened by the international committee for study abroad beginning in Sept. 1952. A number of students sponsored by Rotary clubs in Missouri are now abroad continuing post-graduate work.

The program has been arranged by Z. Lyle Brown, district manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, who is the club's general program chairman.

J. O. Latimer the monthly program chairman, will be out of town and the speaker will be introduced by Ray Lippard.

ROTARY SPEAKER Monday noon will be Lawrence Jones, Jefferson City, immediate past district governor.

Playhouse Postpones First Play

The board of directors of the Sedalia Community Playhouse announce that due to a combination of circumstances beyond their control the Playhouse is forced to postpone the presentation of "Ten Little Indians."

Scott Weber, past-president of the Playhouse and a member of the board, said that if the board ever had a serious problem this one was it. The show was slow getting cast due to the lack of men, and with illness and injury depleting the ranks of overworked but willing men, they could not do justice to one of the finest mysteries ever written.

Larry Riley, president, said, "we could put on a show on the advertised dates, but we don't believe in presenting what would necessarily have to be an inferior presentation for the sake of filling the stage on Dec. 2 and 3. We do not believe it would be fair to our audience. We believe that up to date our presentations have offered polished entertainment and our supporters, the Sedalia people, have a right to and will expect future presentations to meet these standards."

All holders of tickets need have no worry about the dates printed on them. All tickets will be honored at the show named on them.

The postponing of the December showing means that "Ten Little Indians" will be presented on the next available dates of Feb. 19 and 20 and the musical originally scheduled for February will be presented on May 28 and 29.

Holders of sustaining memberships will receive special notice through the mail.

"We are sorry we had to take this action," said Mr. Riley, "but our open house and other membership campaigns have not produced the hoped for increase in active membership. We feel sure there are men and women in Sedalia who would enjoy participating in the Playhouse activities and we hopefully repeat that any one of any age is not only welcome, but urgently needed."

Cub Leaders' 2nd Training Course Today

Harold Barrick, leadership training chairman, Boy Scouts of America, announced that the second training session for Cub Scout leaders will be held today at 2 p.m. at Horace Mann school.

The training today will consist of filmstrips, demonstrations, discussion and actual practice of features involved in the weekly den meeting with the Cub Scouts. A filmstrip presentation will also be made of the details of the achievement plan as it operates in the Cubbing program today.

The training course, which is being held in three sessions, has recently been developed by the Cubbing division of the Boy Scouts of America. It is provided in eight separate parts, each part centered around a filmstrip presentation. Last week parts one and two were presented which included "The Fundamentals of the Boy Scout Movement and What Cubbing Is" and "Program Planning."

On Dec. 2, the last session will be held for this course, and it will be divided into two groups, (1) the Cubmaster and committeemen for sessions in "Pack Administration" and "The Pack Meeting," and (2) den mothers in "The Den Meeting Place" and "Den Mother-Den Chief Relationships."

The instructors for the course are Mrs. Lyle Brown and H. Nathan Jones, both registered leaders with Pack 67 of Horace Mann school.

Legion Aux at Green Ridge Holds Meeting

American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 491, held its regular meeting Monday night, Nov. 12, at Bennett hall in Green Ridge. It was called to order by the president, Mrs. Harold Lee Baslee. The unit gave the pledge to the flag and read the preamble to the Constitution in unison.

Routine business was taken care of and Mrs. H. E. Carter, presented a report on the amount of money made at the Legion turkey shoot, which was recently held near Green Ridge.

Mrs Lloyd Street received the surprise package and Mrs. Howard Bell received an award.

After the meeting adjourned the hostesses, Mrs. Earl Embree and Mrs. Lloyd Street, entertained with games and following the games served refreshments to 18 members and seven children.

Delivers up to 1600 gallons per hour—pumps efficiently at depths to 600 feet.

Must you go deeper to get the volume of water you need? Then here's your pump — Fairbanks-Morse deep well working head! Uses less power to get more water.

These pumps are for use in wells with casing diameters of 3" to 6". 3 hp. motor. Sanitary well seal. Balanced pumping action — upper cylinder raises water . . . lower one forces it into service line. Walking beam operates in straight line without use of guide rods. Positive pressure oil pump lubricates all working parts. Both pump and motor have V-belt drive.

Let us measure your needs for pump size! For really deep water tables, this pump is the most economical to buy. It is available in a full range of sizes. We will be glad to come to your home, farm, club or institution and make an on-the-job check of your needs, and recommend the right pump. Or, drop in at our store, phone or write us today for FREE booklet on Fairbanks-Morse deep well water systems.

Sorosis Speaker Will Be State Librarian

"The Dynamatic Library in Missouri's Future" will be the subject of a talk by Paxton P. Price, state librarian, Jefferson City, to be given Monday afternoon at Sorosis.

Mr. Price came to Missouri as librarian of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers college at Maryville in July, 1947. He is a graduate of George Peabody college for teachers, where he received his B.S. degree in 1937 and his B.S. in L.S. in the summer of 1941. Since the war he has completed the course work on a master's degree at Columbia.

Before entering military service Mr. Price was librarian at the New Mexico Military Institute but left that position to enter the army in 1943. His army experience took him to Europe as an officer in a tank destroyer unit. After the war he continued in Europe as an intelligence officer and spent some time during 1946 at Oberammergau as an instructor in the European Theatre Intelligence school.

Mr. Price has been state librarian since August 1, 1949.

New Members Into Past Presidents Club

Mrs. G. L. Carter entertained the Past Presidents club of the Sedalia Garden clubs with a dessert luncheon Friday afternoon at her home, 700 South Beacon.

Decorations were in keeping with the season with a Thanksgiving farm scene on the buffet and cornucopias filled with fruits and vegetables throughout the home.

The retiring presidents of the nine garden clubs were inducted into the club. They were: Mrs. F. S. Leach, Club 1, who was already a member; Mrs. A. B. Potts, Club 2; Mrs. H. L. Netherton, Club 3; Mrs. R. L. Weinrich, Club 4; Mrs. R. S. Haggard, Club 5; Mrs. B. E. Heacock, Club 6; Mrs. Paul Read, Club 7; Mrs. Ernest Martin, Club 8, and Mrs. Nathan Jones, Club 9.

Mrs. A. W. Johns showed movies of members of the garden clubs and pictures of the Missouri State Fair, with Randall Jesse, commentator, were also shown.

A report of the Past Presidents club work during the past year was given in which the announcement was made that 20 magnolia trees and 12 evergreen were planted on State Fair boulevard, with a number of trees being donated to the organization.

Officers were re-elected for the new year as follows: Mrs. P. L. Strole, president; Mrs. H. C. Johnson, first vice-president; Mrs. Roy Gerster, second vice-president; Mrs. Ida Harriman, treasurer, and Mrs. T. H. Yount, secretary.

The project for the coming year will be to continue to beautify State Fair boulevard.

Your Wardrobe
By Frances Sagaloff at Sage's

THURSDAY IS OF COURSE THANKSGIVING and besides being a happy day when families get together, we realize that Christmas isn't far away. That particular period should be a happy time and it moves very fast. The short period is crammed with social activities and the smart woman doesn't wait until the day before a date to get ready. Pretty dresses are here now, rustling taffetas with crinolin petticoats, smart crepes that look well with a variety of costume jewelry. Have a few new dressy blouses to wear with your solid skirts—you can't go wrong on an assortment of separates. Buy a couple smart scarves to add color to your more basic suits. Sparkling fabrics, lots of color and full skirts are made for holiday wear. Keep your hair shining and your nails well manicured — all these things go together and will not be overlooked.

Did You Ever Try This?
by Mildred Bowman

Make pumpkin cookies with that cup of pumpkin left over from making a pumpkin pie for the Thanksgiving dinner. Here's how:

½ cup butter, 1⅓ cups sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup pumpkin, 2½ cups sifted flour, 1 cup white raisins, 4 tsp. baking powder, ½ cup chopped pecans, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1 tsp. lemon extract, grated rind of 1 lemon, ½ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. ginger, ¼ tsp. allspice, 1 tsp. each cinnamon and nutmeg.

Cream butter and sugar—beat the eggs and stir into the pumpkin, add spices and flavoring. Combine pumpkin with sugar mixture and add dry ingredients, raisins and nuts. Drop them by spoonfuls on greased baking sheet and bake 15 minutes in 400° oven. Dust with cinnamon and sugar mixture while warm.

Citizenship's 3 R's Are Given Mark Twain PTA

"There are three R's of citizenship—Rights, Respects and Responsibilities," said Mike Bogutski speaking on "Parental Example and Citizenship" Friday night at the Mark Twain PTA.

Most parents he said, have no trouble instilling rights into their children. They teach respect for domocratic ideals, system of law and of persons as individuals not as groups. Also, children must learn the responsibilities of keeping well informed, voting at all elections and practicing democracy in the home. "These are the principles which should be incorporated in every day life in order for children to profit.'

The business meeting was opened with a devotional by Kay Satterwhite. Room-count awards went to the rooms of Mrs. Ethel Lyon and Mrs. Maimie Dwyer, as did the membership awards.

Mrs. C. H. Cook reported that the city council had voted to put a blinker light at Third and Grand as a result of a petition asking for a stop-and-go light there; also, school zone signs on Grand and a no-parking space in front of the school.

After considerable discussion, it was voted that the blinker light be given a trial before any further action be taken.

An idea of an indoor sports program for the men of the PTA was introduced and met with favor. A motion was carried that Mark Twain would be in favor of the Sedalia PTA's aiding the Red Cross in their drive in 1952.

Mrs. Robert Seelen, accompanied by Mrs. A. R. Beach, entertained with two vocal solos, "September in the Rain" and "Mountain High, Valley Low." Mrs. William Ward was in charge of the program.

K-State Surprises MU With 14-12 Win

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 17—(AP)—The Kansas State Wildcats, Big Seven cellar-dwellers since 1942, scored their first league victory since 1949 in beating Missouri 14-12, in a rough game played in sub-freezing weather today.

A two-touchdown underdog, Coach Bill Meek's freshman-dominated team led 14-0 going into the final period after a pass interception and a 52-yard sustained drive resulted in touchdowns.

	Missouri	K-State
First Downs	19	11
Rushing yardage	166	163
Passing yardage	200	69
Passes Attempted	33	22
Passes Completed	14	8
Passes intercepted	1	7
Punts	7	12
Punting average	32	38
Fumbles lost	1	1
Yards penalized	57	90

The weather was cold—24 degrees with flurries of snow—but the play was rough and hot with 13,545 brave souls looking on. Five roughing penalties were called and three players—two from Missouri and one Kansas State—were ejected in early minutes of the game.

Interception Brings TD

Kansas State, with fifteen freshmen carrying man-size jobs on offense and defense, scored the game's first touchdown against the Missourians in the second quarter. Freshman end Joe Norman intercepted Missouri freshman Tony Scardino's pass and dashed 29-yards for the score.

Kansas State got its second touchdown in the third period with freshman fullback Dewey Wade smacking between center and left guard from the one-yard line.

Lane Brown made his second conversion and the Missouri Tigers, trailing by 14 points, looked as toothless as any Don Faurot-coached team since 1937 when the Tigers won 3, lost 6 and tied one.

Missouri, which was losing its seventh game of the season against two victories, led in the statistics, but was never in the game until the last quarter. And even then Kansas State appeared the master as three Missouri freshman passers passed gamely from a wide spread formation but were unable to overcome Kansas State's superior over-all game.

Hook, Fesler Score For MU

Missouri's touchdowns were scored by quarterback Jim Hook, on a quarterback sneak from the foot mark, and by Billy Fessler, on a great pass catch from freshman Buddy Cox.

Kansas State spotted Missouri the short passes from the spread, played a three-man line and scattered its remaining personnel all over the secondary.

"We are mighty proud of our boys and mighty happy. I'm glad we could win this last game for the seniors. I hope this is a sign of better things to come."

The players dedicated the victory to Bob Mayer, of Brewster, Kas., who died of polio the day of opening practice. The game ball will be presented to Bob's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Mayer, bearing signatures of all the Kansas State players.

Too Many MU Injuries

Said Faurot, whose Missourians scared mighty Oklahoma 32-20 last week:

"Kansas State played a little better ball and deserved to win. We had too many men on the crippled list."

Kansas State ..... 0 7 7 0—14
Missouri ..... 0 0 0 0 12—12

Kansas State scoring: Touchdowns—Norman, Wade; conversions—Brown 2 (placements).

Missouri scoring: Touchdowns—Hook, Fessler.

S-C Track Team Finishes Sixth

The Smith-Cotton high school cross country track team in competition at Forest Park, St. Louis, placed sixth in a meeting with fourteen other high school teams. It was a creditable showing the Tigers made according to the school authorities competing against top-notch teams from St. Louis and Eastern Missouri high schools.

Coach Robert Karnes stated he was well pleased with the improvement the squad has made in recent weeks. Karnes is confident Smith-Cotton will be in the top running when the state meet rolls around next spring.

Chester O'Bannon placed 25th in the two-mile run; Jim Shepherd 26th, Richard Stephens 27th and Lonnie Benson 40th and Don Streeter 41st.

The star of the event taking top honors was Keith Bacon, of Springfield, which school won the meet, he setting a new record for the state and team covering the two miles in 9:35.7 minutes.

The results follow:

Springfield 19; Hadley 60; Beaumont, 87; Kirkwood, 91; Sumner, 154; Sedalia, 157; Cleveland, 212; Webster Groves, 222; Louisiana, 243; Maplewood, 266; Hannibal, 317; Vashon, 355.

Kazmaier Leads Princeton To Brilliant 27 to 0 Victory

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 17—(AP)—Dandy Dick Dazmaier had one of the biggest days of his brilliant football career today as he led Princeton's unbeaten Tigers to a record-smashing 27 to 0 victory over their oldest rival, Yale.

Sooners Get At Least A Tie For Title

Weatherall Is The Standout Player Of Entire Game

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 17—(AP)—Oklahoma's hard-running Sooners smashed Iowa State, 35-6, proving once more that a football team with a good ground attack and adequate anti-aircraft defense can outgun a club that travels principally through the skies.

While 30,000 fans shivered in a cold north wind, the nation's No. 12 team rolled methodically to its 25th straight Big Seven triumph and clinched a tie for the Conference title it has owned exclusively the past three years.

McPhail Starts Early

Fullback Buck McPhail spurted right through the middle for 51 yards and a touchdown the second time Oklahoma held the ball at 9:25 of the opening period and the issue was never in doubt thereafter.

The Sooners churned 328 yards on the ground and tossed in just enough passes to open up the Iowa State defenses. Halfback Dick Heatly scored two touchdowns and lateralled to quarterback Eddie Crowder for another. Buddy Leake passed 9 yards to John Reddell for the final Oklahoma score.

After building up a 35-0 lead the Sooners fell apart in the final period, however, and Dick Mann cashed in one of five Oklahoma fumbles by passing 13 yards to Dick Cox for the lone Iowa State touchdown with five minutes of the game remaining.

McPhail carried the ball 11 times for 109 yards to keep his average at virtually 10 yards a crack, the best in the Big Seven.

A 33-yard pass from Leake to Reddell set up the second Oklahoma marker in the first period, scored by Heatly from three yards out. A one-yard scoring plunge by Heatly capped a 59-yard drive in the second period.

87-Yards On Seven Plays

In the third period, Oklahoma moved 87 yards on seven plays and scored on the day's top thriller. It started on the Iowa State 44 with Heatly taking a handoff from Crowder. Heatly sliced through for 14, then lateralled to Crowder as he went down and Crowder tip-toed down the sidelines for the remaining 30 yards.

Mann, the Conference's leading passer, was held in check most of the way, principally because Jim Weatherall, Oklahoma's All-America tackle, spent much of the afternoon in the Iowa State backfield. At that, Mann completed 18 of the 40 passes he tried, netting 183 yards.

Nebraska Next on List

Weatherall was the standout performer of the day. Immovable on defense he also blocked viciously on offense and kicked all five of Oklahoma's extra points.

It was Oklahoma's fifth straight triumph and sixth in eight games this season. The Sooners need only a victory over Nebraska next week to wrap up the Big Seven title. The game ended the season for Iowa State with a 4-4-1 record.

Iowa State ..... 0 0 0 6— 6
Oklahoma ..... 14 7 14 0—35

Iowa State scoring: Touchdown, Cox.

Oklahoma scoring: Touchdowns, Heatly 2, McPhail, Crowder, Reddell. Conversions: Weatherall 5.

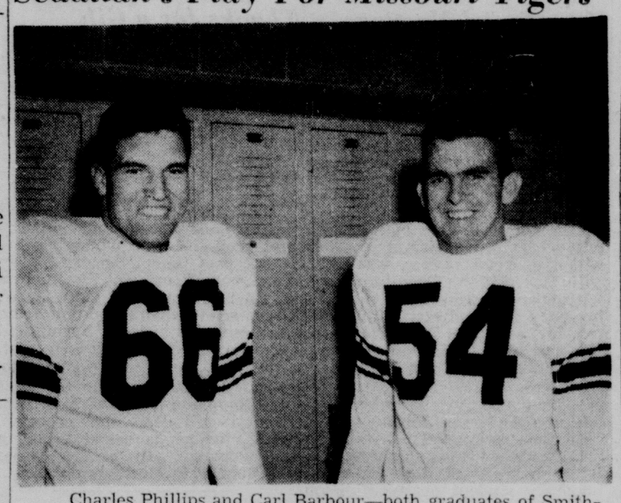
10. Baylor defeated Wake Forest, 42 to 0.

Sedalian's Play For Missouri Tigers



Charles Phillips and Carl Barbour—both graduates of Smith-Cotton high school are performing for the University of Missouri's football Tigers this season.

Phillips, who is one of the three freshmen in Coach Don Faurot's starting offensive lineup, is rated as one of the top newcomers on this year's club. Gagsters always get a laugh when Missouri's starting lineup is announced—it goes something like this: 'and at left guard, no. 66, Charles Phillips, Sedalia—Phillips-66.' No it's not a motor oil, only Missou's starting left guard.

Barbour, one of the few two-spot men at Missouri, has been the regular center for Coach Clay Cooper's B team this season. Following football season, Carl will take a short breather from athletic competition, and then start practice with the baseball team. Last season, he and Herb Gellman switched off as starting catchers.

Tigers Lose 21 To 0 To NCK Hornets

Sedalians Victim Of Aerial Attack By Alvin Fuson

Smith-Cotton Tigers lost their fire in North Kansas City, Friday night, and came back to Sedalia a defeated team to the tune of 0-21. The Tigers had all the steam released when Northtown came through with a sleeper play and caught Sedalia flat-footed— that turned the table for the Hornets who didn't let up a minute.

Alvin Fuson steered the Hornets on their way by "flipping" three touchdown passes. It all started in the second quarter when Fuson picked out Don Cowden, who pulled a sleeper. Cowden pulled away from his team, laid down on the ground until the ball was passed from the center to Fuson and then jumped to his feet and received the pass on his 20 yard line and dashed down the field for the initial TD.

Pep Talk Fails

At the halftime period a pep talk didn't seem to rekindle the fire to build up the old Smith-Cotton steam and the third quarter opened with both teams battling back and fourth. But in the final minutes of that stanza, Gil Divelbiss, Hornet left end, cut back over center and took a pass from Fuson and went 40-yards for the second touchdown.

The first team took the kickoff after which Coach Ralph Dow began calling in his first stringers and sending out his recruits. When the first string players admitted they weren't doing the job Dow began giving his youngsters a try at the game. One more score was made on the sophomores, it coming in the fourth quarter when Fuson tossed to Larry Perry on a screen pass and went about 35 yards to pay dirt.

Make Extra Points

Justice added two points after touchdowns and Cottrell the other.

It was Smith-Cotton's final game of the season and a hard one to lose. Especially was it hard to take when the Tigers were favored to win over Northtown by a touchdown.

Riding in two buses the Tigers continued to have their troubles. One bus had trouble and delayed the start back to Sedalia, then reaching the highway west of Warrensburg, icy roads were experienced, thus making it a long tiresome trek back home.

Many of the Tigermen will now turn their attention to basketball, others will start training for track, hoping to produce better standings for the teams in those sports.

Jordan's Passing Arm Wins For Colorado, 36-14.

LINCOLN, Nebr. Nov. 17—(AP)—Zach Jordan's passing arm, good for two second-quarter touchdowns, today wiped out an early Nebraska lead and started Colorado on its way to a 36 to 14 Big Seven Conference football victory over Nebraska. The Buffaloes led Nebraska 20 to 7 at the half and outscored Nebraska two touchdowns to one in the second half.

Browns Move Into New Office Space

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 17—In order to accommodate the rapidly expanding operations of the reorganized St. Louis Browns, additional office space on Grand Avenue has been secured by the club and the administration offices will be moved to the new and enlarged quarters on the ground floor of Sportsman's Park.

The new offices, which are expected to be ready for occupancy before the end of the year, will include the executive office of President Bill Veeck, General Manager Rudie Schaffer, Vice-President Bill DeWitt, the promotion department and the office of Traveling Secretary Bill Durney.

Also in the new Grand Avenue office space will be a new and larger reception room and an expanded ticket department. The advance ticket windows, which previously were on Grand Avenue, will continue in that location, but will have added space for a mail order department. The upstairs offices on Dodier street then will be occupied by the farm and scouting department and by the bookkeeping and auditing sections.

Kemper To Lexington On Thanksgiving Day

LEXINGTON, Mo., Nov. 17—The forty-second meeting on the gridiron between Wentworth Military academy and Kemper Military school will take place in Alumni Stadium here at 2:00 p.m. Thanksgiving Day.

Starting back in 1901, the game between these two service schools has been frequently referred to as the "Little Army-Navy Game" by Midwest sports writers. The game is always a colorful affair and it draws friends and alumni of both institutions. The entire Kemper battalion will make the trip to Lexington to support their team.

For Wentworth the game is all important. Not only do the Wentworth Red Dragons want to beat Kemper, their arch rivals over a fifty-year period, but they also want to take the Interstate Conference championship. Wentworth is now tied for first place with Graceland college of Lamoni, Ia. If Wentworth defeats Kemper in the Turkey Day tilt, the Interstate title will go to the Red Dragons.

Southern Illinois Swamped By Cape

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., Nov. 17 — (AP) — Southeast Missouri Teachers college ground out a 45-6 homecoming victory over winless Southern Illinois University today with halfback Kenny Hargens catapulting into the SIU end zone three times.

Halfback Jim Lee scored twice for the Cape Teachers, as he shared Cape's four second half touchdowns with Hargens. The halftime score was 19-6.

All of Cape's touchdowns were scored by rushing as the team rolled up 498 yards on the ground while holding SIU to an 82-yard total.

The game ended the season for Cape with two victories, five defeats and one tie. SIU closes its season next week and now stands with a 0-8 record.

Sport Scraps

By D. Kelly Scruton

SEDALIA'S Frank Ervin is still making headlines as far as a leading reinsman is concerned. A veteran race horse driver, Frank has moved into the top ten among the nation's leading money-winning harness horse drivers.

The past week we learned from the United States Trotting Association that the latest figures released credit Ervin with earnings of $122,772 and spot him in seventh place nationally.

The pony pacer Good Time, who has won his last eight straight starts, is principally responsible for Ervin's sudden rise.

MISSOURI'S annual Semi-Pro baseball tournament is practically assured for Sedalia, in July 1952—at least the new State Commissioner H. L. "Hank" Williams is laying his plans at present to have Sedalia as the site. Williams has a plan which he hopes to carry out for next year, by having district tournaments and the winning teams invading the tournament instead of trying to pick teams for the event.

Already several baseball clubs have requested the Commissioner to hold tournaments in their locality. At present he is hoping to have Civic organizations sponsor these tournaments, then send the winning and runner-up teams here. Using this method he feels that better brand of baseball will be seen on the Liberty Park diamond.

The full backing of the National Baseball Congress has been assured Williams by Ray Dumont, president of the organizaton. Missouri has been one of the weak spots in semi-pro baseball, and they desire to build it up to a comparative standing of Kansas, at present one of the leading states in that sport.

MISSOURI University's football fortunes sank to a new low yesterday when the Tigers dropped their first ball game to the Kansas State Wildcats since 1938.

For Don Faurot's young squad this must have been a particularly bitter pill, for this was one of the few games this year in which they could expect victory.

After the Tigers fine showing against Oklahoma, it appeared for one brief day that the tide was beginning to turn—then the axe fell.

Last Monday the University announced that Junior Wren, the Bengal's work horse triple-threater would be out for the season as the result of a hand injury. This loss apparently took most of the newly-found spark out of the Faurot charges.

A look at Big Seven statistics will show Wren's value to his team. He ranked fourth in the conference in rushing with 451 yards; had completed 19 passes for 257 yards; had caught 25 passes for 363 yards (second in the loop); and had averaged 37.6 yards for each of his 50 punts. He also was used frequently on Faurot's defensive platoon.

All in all it adds up to this—Oklahoma can lose its key offensive threat (Billy Vessels), and come up with a capable substitute in Buddy Leake—but in the thin ranks of the Missouri Tigers, there was no substitute for Wren.

Grand Circuit To Inaugurate A New Series Of Filly Stakes

A new series of Breeders' Filly Stakes for two and three-year-old trotters and pacers will be inaugurated in 1952 at six Grand Circuit harness racing tracks.

Twelve of the nation's top Standardbred nurseries, and possibly 15, will sponsor the events which are designed to give the young fillies of each gait additional opportunities to race in their own class rather than against the tougher colts.

Participating tracks will include Good Time Park, Goshen, N. Y.; Springfield, Ill., Sedalia, Mo., DuQuoin, Ill.; Indianapolis, Ind., and Delaware, Ohio.

Each farm will add $1,000 to the divisions it sponsors and each track will add $1,000 to the monies paid in by horsemen. Previews, valued at about $5,000 to $6,000, will be raced in 1952.

Payments include a $5 yearling nominating fee by the breeder on June each year. Then on Dec. 15 the owner must pay $15 at each track for each division to retain eligibility. Payments of $25 are due on Feb. 15 and April 15 and it will cost $150 to start a two-year-old and $200 to start a three-year old.

The Trotting Horse Club of America at DuQuoin, Ill., will handle the clerical and promotional work and will conduct the races.

A simplified payment plan has been set up so that owners can make all payments at one place for the many races. Participating breeding farms include Castleton Farm, Gainesway Farm, Popular Hill Farm, Walnut Hall Farm, Walnut Hall Stud, all of Lexington, Ky.; Two Gaits Farm of Carmel, Ind., Newport Stock Farm of South Plainfield, N. J., Bonnie Brae Farms, Wellington, Ohio, Greenacres Farm, Wilmington, Ohio, Fairmeads Farms, Wilmington, Ohio, Pickwick Farms, Bucyrus, Ohio; and breeder McKinley Kirk of Washington, C. H., Ohio.

Springfield State Beaten By Valley

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 17—(AP)—Missouri Valley college, the M.C.A.U. champion, cashed in on a blocked punt today to score a 14-7 victory over Springfield State, co-champion of the M.I.A.A.

With the score tied 7-7 early in the third period, a swarm of Valley gridders broke through to block a punt and recover it on the Springfield 7. Two plays later Art Davis scored for the Vikings.

Springfield scored in the first period on a 20-yard run by John Batten. The Valley Vikings tied it up in the second quarter as Davis passed 19 yards to Keith Corkran for a score.

The victory was the eighth in a row for Valley, which now has a 9-1 mark. Springfield closed its season with six victories, and four losses.

Navy Ends Losing Streak By Beating Columbia, 21-7.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—(AP)—Underdog Navy ended its season-long victory drought today with a 21 to 7 triumph over the Columbia Lions before 25,000 fans, including two brigades of wildly cheering midshipmen.

Miami Hurricanes May Clinch 'Gator Bowl Bid

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 17—(AP)—The Miami Hurricanes, spinning to touchdowns in each of the first three quarters, defeated Florida, 21-6 tonigh and may have clinched a bid to the 'Gator Bowl.

Central Scores But Loses To Wm. Jewell

LIBERTY, Mo., Nov. 17—(AP)—William Jewell College, in second place in the NCAU Conference, today defeated Central of Fayette, 58 to 6.

Tommy Cook of Kansas City made three of the touchdowns for the victors. Bobby Gadt got two, and Dave Byart, Chuck Green and Bobby Nield, one each. Mason of Kansas City kicked seven of the eight conversions.

Bob Zey scored the lone Central touchdown on a 64-yard pass and running play.

Easy Day For Kansas Over Oklahoma A-M

Missouri Is Next Mark For Kansas At Lawrence Dec. 1

STILLWATER, Okla., Nov. 17—(AP)—Kansas mixed a fine running and passing game and took advantage of Oklahoma A & M miscues to spoil the Aggie homecoming 27-12 here today in sub-freezing weather.

The Aggies' touted passing attack, second in the nation, was stalled through most of the contest. It only came to life for two minutes at the end of the first half when sophomore quarterback Don Babers pitched two touchdown passes.

Situation Well In Hand

The rest of the game, the Kansas Jayhawks had the situation well in hand with quarterback Jerry Robertson hitting 10 of 17 passes for 178 yards—including one for a touchdown—and making 49 rushing.

Fullback Bud Laughlin scored three of Kansas' four touchdowns to give him 12 for the season—the best scoring record in the Big Seven Conference. Kansas' other score came on a 41-yard pass from Robertson to left end Orban Tice.

After the two teams played even most of the first quarter, Kansas exploded for two touchdowns in 66 seconds just before the period ended.

Robertson pitched to Tice for the first one and then Kansas gained possession of the ball seconds later when Babers fumbled on the Aggie two. Laughlin hit left tackle in the next play for the touchdown. John Konek made both of the conversions.

The longest sustained march of the game was 92 yards by Kansas in the second period, Robertson sparking the drive with Stellar running and passing. Laughlin scored from the 6 with 8 minutes gone.

Kansas	14- 6-7-0—27
Oklahoma A&M	0-12-0-0—12

Kansas scoring: touchdowns; Laughlin 3, Tice. Conversions: Konek 3. Oklahoma A&M scoring: touchdowns: Bennett, Shackleton.

Pat Hogan Meets Altman On Wednesday

Two Texas Wrestlers On Card This Week; Lippold Comes Back

WRESTLING SCHEDULE

Main Event

Frank Altman vs. Pat Hogan
Seattle, Wash Chicago, Ill.
2 falls out of 3—90-minute limit.

Semi-Final

Neil Warren vs. Tex Barker
Columbus, O. San Antonio, Tex.
2 falls out of 3—45-minute limit.

Opening Event

George Lippold vs. Tom Hawkins
St. Joseph, Mo. Dallas, Texas
One fall with a 30-minute limit.

Time: 8:30 p.m., Wednesday.
Place: National Guard Armory.
Referee: Ben Sherr, Shawnee, Kas.

Wrestling at the National Guard Armory is being moved up one day, matches to be held this Wednesday night at 8:30 instead of Thursday, which is Thanksgiving Day. An all-man night of wrestling will be held as a result of a car wreck which injured one of the girls who was scheduled to come here this week.

No Change In Top Event

No change has been made in the top event with Frank Altman, Seattle, Wash., defending his spot in the limitation tournament, and who is scheduled against Pat Hogan, Chicago, a new face to the Sedalia ring. Since the start of the elimination of heavyweights for a chance to meet Roy Dunn, of Gate, Okla., who holds the championship heavyweight belt, many requests have been received by promoters to get a chance at the champ.

Altman in his two appearances in the Sedalia ring has been able to maintain top position and on the card in the main event. This will be his third opponent when he meets Hogan.

Warren to Meet Barker

Replacing the semi-final event in which two girls were to have come to Sedalia will be Neil Warren, Columbus, O., slated to meet "Tex" Barker of San Antonio. They'll go for the best two falls out of three with a 45-minute time limit. Neal needs no introduction to local fans, who after last week would enjoy seeing some wrestler tie him in knots.

South vs. The North

Opening the card will be George Lippold, St. Joseph, who will meet Tom Hawkins of Dallas, Texas. Hawkins is a rough-and-ready wrestler who fears nothing from the "North," so he declares. Lippold, a quiet sort of a fellow, good looking and an ambitious mat man is anxious to tangle with the boy from Texas.

Two different automobile accidents has caused a change in the matching of the wrestlers for the Sedalia ring. None of the contestants suffered serious injuries, but were such they were compelled to take time out from the ring for a few days until they are certain they will be alright to resume the sport.

Final Game Of Season Won By Hubbard

Homecoming Crowd See Tigers Beat Lincoln Hi 32-0

Hubbard high school Tigers, Friday afternoon, defeated Lincoln of Lexington to the tune of 32-0 on the Liberty Park gridiron to give the Hubbard student body a happy homecoming. It was the last official football game of the 1951 season for the Sedalia aggregation.

The game was played under a murky sky, but this, along with the severe cold, failed to stop the inspired Tigers.

In Danger Only Once

Only once during the entire game were the Tigers in danger of being scored upon. This occurred in the first quarter. Hubbard failed to make a first down and in attempting a kick, Lexington blocked th ball on Hubbard's 18-yard stripe. The Sedalians were able to score only one touchdown in the first half of the game. The halftime score was 7-0.

In the second half the Sedalians went wild and scored four touchdowns.

Floyd Payne ran the ball for the extra points after the first two touchdowns, to give the game score of 32-0.

"Big Rip" Whitney a Powerhouse

Carl "Big Rip" Whitney was the powerhouse for the Tigers, scoring two touchdowns. Morrow Baker, Richard Jackson and Howard Herndon accounted for the other three scores. Herndon, in the final minutes of the game brought the fans to their feet by intercepting a Lexington pass and galloped 40-yards for his touchdown.

Hubbard completed its regular season with four wins, two losses and one tie, the latter which is under dispute. The tie game was with Lincoln of Kansas City, and the two teams are slated to resume the play from the point of the game which was under dispute. The continued game date has not been set.

Homecoming Queen Crowned

During the halftime period Miss Catherine Patton, senior, Tipton, was crowned homecoming queen by Quarterback Floyd Payne. Her attendants were Miss Charlotte Smith, junior from Marshall; Miss Hattie Smith, sophomore from Warrensburg, and Miss Shirley Sweets, freshman from Butler, and Miss Barbara Myers, eighth grade, from Sedalia. Miss Shirley Sweets is boarding in Sedalia and attending Hubbard.

The queen and her attendants were candidates from every community represented at Hubbard who come to school either by school bus or live in Sedalia. Sedalia's candidate was Miss Barbara Myers.

During the halftime the Hubbard school band performed in their attractive uniforms and instruments shined for the occasion.

Parade Preceeds the Game

The Homecoming parade was held, starting at Lincoln and going through the business district to Third street and west to Liberty Park. The parade was headed by Chief of Police Edgar Neighbors in a police patrol car.

The line of march was as follows:

Flags, American and Hubbard school, Majorettes, Hubbard school band. Pep Squad, Queen car, attendants, home Makers, Social studies, Music department, Industrial arts departments, Float. Booster Club float, Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores, Freshmen, Eighth grade, Seventh grade, Sixth grade, Fifth grade, Fourth grade, Third grade, Second grade, First grade, bicycles and Hubbard school patrol boys.

Penn Squeaks to 7-6 Victory Over Army

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17—(AP)—By the margin of Carl Sempier's placekick, Pennsylvania squeaked home a 7-6 winner over Army's aroused underdogs today in a loosely played game watched by some 40,000 fans.

Non-winners over Army since 1942, Penn converted a fumble into a touchdown midway in the third period after trailing 6-0 at half time. Sempier's extra point, following Chet Cornog's 3-yard scoring slash inside righ tackle did the job.

SMU Smothers Arkansas 47-7

DALLAS, Nov. 17—(AP)—Passing both for and against brought Southern Methodist a 47-7 victory over Arkansas today—the worst defeat the Methodists have administered to the Razorbacks in history.

Fred Benners passed for four touchdowns, Benton Musslewhite for another and Jerry Norton's throwing set up a sixth. The seventh Southern Methodist score also was the result of passing— Arkansas.' An interception of a Lamar McHan aerial brought it.

SMU tried to run only a little in the first period. Then it turned to throwing the ball almost exclusively.

Big Bill Forester scored two touchdowns, Benny White two, Jimmy Hawn one, Benton Musslewhite one and Bob Hooks one while Sammy Stollenwerck kicked five extra points.

Southern Methodist passed for an astonishing 421 yards but ended with a minus nine rushing.

The Arkansas touchdown was the result of passing—McHan's. His throwing set the ball on the three in a 44-yard drive. Lew Carpenter made one and Murray Elton rammed over.

Arkansas got 198 yards in the air and 91 on the ground. Together, the two teams tried 76 passes, which is high even for a Southwest Conference game.

The game meant nothing in the Conference race and it drew only 35,000.

Arkansas	0	0	7	0	7
SMU	7	14	7	19	47

Arkansas scoring: Touchdown—Elton; conversion—Nix.

Southern Methodist scoring: —Touchdowns—B. Forester 2, White 2, Hawn, Musslewhite, Hooks; conversions—Stollenwerck 5.

Gremlins Beat Stover 41-37 In Basketball

Volleyball Team In 19-36 Loss; Cagers In Exciting Contest

The Sacred Heart Gremlins added another victory to their growing list of wins by handing the Stover Bulldogs of the Stover high school a 41 to 37 defeat in an exciting game played Friday night on the Stover school court. However, Sacred Heart girls volley ball team were not so successfull and were defeated by a score of 36 to 19.

The Sedalia-Stover game was close throughout with the lead changing several times, although the Stover team was unable to lead by no more than a point or two at any stage of the game, while the Gremlins biggest lead was six points. The score at half time was tied at 19 all with both teams playing cautious basketball and waiting the other team out.

Start After The Half

After intermission both teams opened up and at the end of the third period the Gremlins led by a score of 29 to 26. The Bulldogs made a desperate rally in the closing quarte. and finally were able to move into a 35-33 lead in the closing minutes of the game. As the minutes ticked away the Gremlins again moved into the lead and with the score 37-35 in favor of the Sedalia team, Jim Fall and Bill Hodges cinched the game with a pair of free throws. The Stover team also added a pair of free tosses but it was too late to do any damage to the Sedalia aggregation.

Fall Scores 14 Points

For the Gremlins Jim Fall with 14 points led the Sedalia attack followed by Labus with 9 and Ryan with 8. Big Bill Hodges played a great rebound game controlling most of the rebounds and played an excellent floor game to feed the ball to his team mates.

Next Tuesday the Gremlins journey to Cole Camp for a game with the Cole Camp high school team. Last year the Gremlins were defeated b the Cole Camp team.

Jefferson City: Kemper Military School, Columbia Hickman, Eldon, Fulton, Jefferson City, St. Peter's Jefferson City and Marshall.

Macon: Brookfield, Hanibal, Kirksville, Macon, Mexico, Missouri Military Academy of Mexico, Moberly and Unionville.

Illinois Rose Bowl Hopes Dampened by Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 17—(AP)—Ohio State's in-and-out Buckeys knocked some of the luster off unbeaten Illinois' hopes for a Rose Bowl bid today, as they held the seven-time winners to a scoreless deadlock in a game which each club attempted unsuccessfully to give away.

A crowd of 79,457 watched the twice-beaten Bucks halt several Illinois surges deep into Ohio territory to put the first blemish on the record of the Western Conference leaders.

Jefferson PTA Members Present One-Act Playlet

Members of the Jefferson school Parent-Teachers association presented a one-act play at the meeting held Friday night at the school. The devotional was led by Mrs. Charles Poynter and the fifth grade, taught by Miss Duvall, presented a Thanksgiving program of poems and songs with Mrs. Ruth Riley at the piano.

"An Evening at the Blakes" was the title of the play and members of the cast included: Mother Blake, Mrs. Paul Sparks; Hilda, the maid, Mrs. James Hall; Grandfather Blake, LeRoy Smeathers; Junior Blake, Don Walters; Gwen Blake, Faye Walters; Jack Blake, Garnett Walters; Father Blake, Jack Delph; Aunt Hettie, Mrs. Clifford Haynes.

The membership drive has ended and grade three, taught by Mrs. Anna Elliott, won the award. The room count award went to room seven, taught by Miss Imogene Peoples.

The lunch room program has started well and there is to be a meeting at the school Nov. 28 for all boys and parents interested in organizing a Boy Scout troop at the school.

Life Underwriters Meet Here Friday

The Sedalia Life Underwriters association held its monthly dinner meeting Friday noon in the Bothwell hotel, with Dick Sklar, president, presiding.

Sam C. Pearson, Jr., general agent in Kansas City of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, gave a worthwhile talk on "Prospecting and Time Control." He was introduced by Jack Crawford, program chairman for this month.

The Sedalia underwriters recognized A. H. Wilks as the oldest past-president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company Veteran's association of the southwestern territory, comprising seven states. He was recently presented a pin of recognition at the Chase hotel in St. Louis.

The next underwriters meeting will be held on Friday, Dec. 7.

Pettis Democrat Club To Elect on Tuesday

A meeting of the Pettis County Democratic club will be held at 8 p. m. Tuesday at the American Legion hall, at which time election of officers will be held.

Mrs. E. Bertie Means, sixth district president, will be present.

Mrs. James Durley and her committee will be in charge of the social session.

Church Adopts Budget

East Sedalia Baptist church, at a business meeting this week, adopted a financial budget for the year. For current expenses the budget lists items totaling $12,238 with $5,000 for mission work and $8,000 for the building fund. This is a total of $25,238. It is expected more than that sum will be received during the year.

Opti-Mrs. Club Met Thursday

The Sedalia Opti-Mrs. club met at the home of Mrs. Jerry Trotter, 720 South Beacon, Thursday night with a large attendance and one guest.

The membership made a donation to the Community Chest fund.

Plans were made for a Christmas party which will be held the second week in December.

Plan Yule Party

The Christmas party for the Friendly Lookout Neighbors club will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Parkhurst, Dec. 15.

Class Of '11 Plans Reunion Next Week-end

Plans are being made for a three day reunion of members of the 1911 class of the Sedalia high school which will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 23, 24 and 25.

A banquet will be held on Friday night, Saturday night there will be a party in the old high school building, which is now Central Business college, and on Sunday members of the class will attend services at the Broadway Presbyterian church. It was at this church that the baccalaureate sermon was preached to the class in 1911 and the present pastor, the Rev. Warren Neal, will have a special message for the class.

The reunion is being held now because Miss Mary Hurlbut, a member of the class, is a missionary to Africa and could not be home in the spring, but is here this fall.

Mrs. A. L. Pringle, who is the reunion chairman, has received many letters from members of the class out-of-town who plan to be here for the reunion.

This reunion is not only for those who graduated in the class, but for all who were members of the class.

Reservations for the banquet must be in by Tuesday and may be made by calling Mrs. Pringle, telephone number 2014, today or after 5 p. m. Monday.

30 Hear Stylist At Nu Yu Club Meeting Friday

Mrs. Dorothy Moore of Chicago, noted lecturer, stylist and fashion coordinator, spoke Friday evening at the meeting of the newly organized Nu-Yu club. The meeting was held in the auditorium of the public library.

There were 30 persons in attendance and considerable interest was expressed in the very interesting and informative address given by the visiting speaker.

The next regular meeting of the club will be on Nov. 30 at the library.

Bride Honored With Shower

A shower honoring Mrs. Ray Williams, who until her marriage Oct. 18 was Miss Merle Kabler, was given at the home of Mrs. Charles Rucker, 1911 East Ninth.

The home was decorated with arrangements of dahlias in various shades.

Invited guests were Mrs. James Green, Mrs. Schewermer, Miss Mae Sims, Mrs. Dossy Lynn, Mrs. Laura Riley, Mrs. Eva Bary, Mrs Blanch Brown, Mrs. Edith Brown, Mrs. Louie Conner, Mrs. Walter Carver, Mrs. W. H. Fewell, Mrs. Vester Richardson, Mrs. Toby Borchers and daughter, Kathy, Mrs. Helen Lampton and daughter, Diane, Mrs. Mildred Shine, Mrs. Betty Holdren and Mrs. Emma Walz.

The evening was spent in a quiz contest and other games with awards going to Mrs. Louie Connor, Mrs. Toby Borchers and Mrs. Helen Lampton.

After the bride had opened her gifts, refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by her mother, Mrs. C. M. Hayes, and Mrs. James Green.

Farewell Dinner For Bill Wimmer

A farewell dinner was given Sunday, Nov. 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Shipps, Sr., 407 North Quincy in honor of Bill Wimmer, who left for the service Nov. 14.

Those present were Mrs. Opal Wimmer, Waverly; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Shipps, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shipps and son, Norman Glenn, Charles Shipps, Mr. and Mrs. W. M Shipps, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wimmer.

Mr. Wimmer will take his basic training at Lackland Air Base, San Antonio, Tex. His wife will join him later.

SOROSIS SPEAKER MONDAY—Paxton P. Price, Jefferson City, state librarian, will be the speaker Monday afternoon at the Sorosis meeting at Heard Memorial club house.

Big Crowd Attends Flood Relief Dance Of MoPac Boosters

The flood relief dance, sponsored by the Missouri Pacific Women's club and the Missouri Pacific Boosters, which was given Friday night at Convention Hall, Liberty Park, was attended by an immense crowd.

Those in charge from the women's organization were Mrs. Ike Warren, Mrs. Larry Judd and Mrs. Robert Mullen and from the Boosters were Charles Keller, George Riley and Leonard Woolery.

Mrs. A. J. Gregory is president of the Missouri Pacific Women's club and Palmer R. Nichols is chief booster.

Jack Lobaugh, assistant chief booster, served as master of ceremonies.

The stage in Convention Hall was decorated with palms and colored lights and on display were 14 wool comforts which were donated by officers and chairmen of the Missouri Pacific Women's club, Missouri Pacific Eagle Minstrel, Mrs. J. D. Johnson and group, Dresden Ladies Aid, the Whittier Parent Education class, Mrs. Walter Brill, American War Dads auxiliary, Mrs. Paul Nightengale and Mrs. Joe Payne.

The money from the dance, the comforters and two pair of new pillows given by the Eagles Minstrel will be used for relief for people in the flood district.

Music for the dance was furnished by Lee Brandt's orchestra.

Guests from St. Louis were Bill Linck, photographer for the Missouri Pacific, and Mrs. Linck; Bill Stewart, secretary of R. J. Maxwell, director of publicity and advertising, Mrs. Stewart and son; Bill Wedge, advertising assistant and Mrs. Wedge, H. L. Fitts, staff editor of Missouri Pacific magazine.

Stylist Will Speak For MoPac Women's Club

"Style and Its Relation to the Individual" will be the subject of a talk to be given Monday night before the Missouri Pacific Women's club by Mrs. Dorothy Moore of Chicago.

Mrs. Moore is a noted lecturer and stylist and has had a great deal of experience in giving advice to women of all ages as to the colors they should wear, what styles are becoming, hair styling and makeup.

Mrs. Jerome Wolf, program chairman, will introduce the speaker.

A social hour will follow the program.

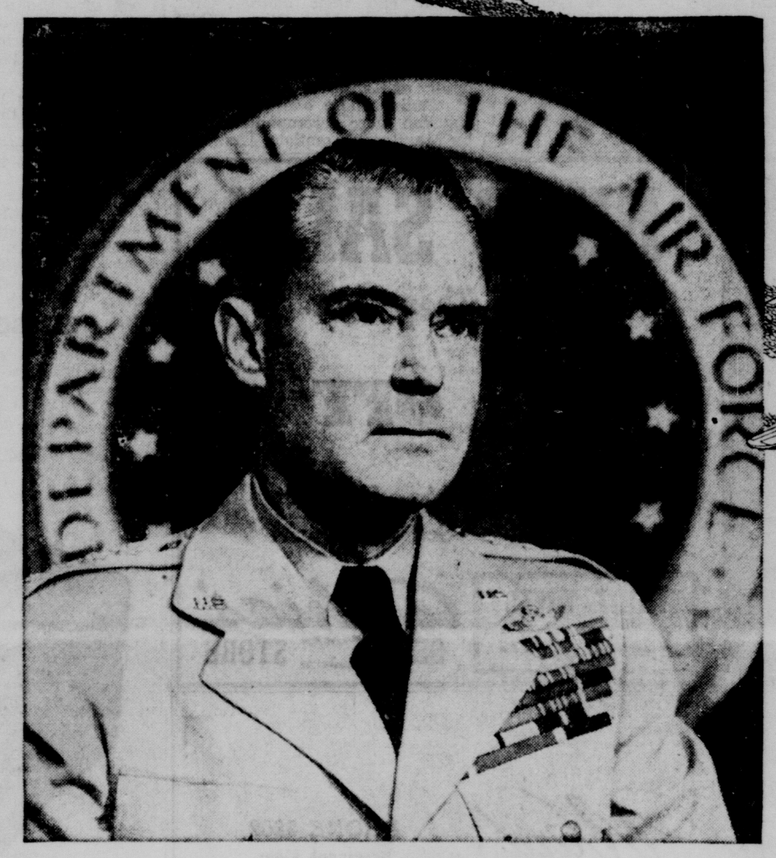
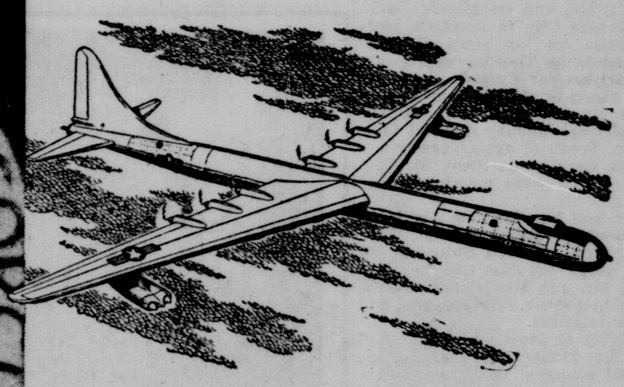
"Defense is your job, too!"
says GENERAL HOYT VANDENBERG





Today there are no far away places—for London, Paris, Moscow and Tokyo are only a matter of hours by air. And with every passing day, new advances in aviation bring us nearer to our enemies.

That is why we are now engaged in building the most effective force the world has ever seen. An air force designed for but one purpose. To defend you and all of the things you hold dear!

But defense is your job, too! And one of the best ways to do your job is by buying U. S. Defense Bonds regularly. Why not start now—make today your "D" Day! By buying bonds you help build the great economic strength that backs up our armed forces. And today history has taught us one lesson—peace is for the strong!

Remember, too, when you buy bonds you make one of the safest investments in the world today. For Defense Bonds are as safe as America!

Start yourself on the road to personal financial independence through U. S. Defense Bonds

Through Defense Bonds and other forms of saving you can build a cash reserve. Money that will some day buy you a house or educate your children, or support you when you retire. Remember, too, that if you don't save regularly, you generally don't save at all. So go to your company's pay office—now—and sign up for regular Defense Bond purchases through the Payroll Savings Plan.

Don't forget that now every Series E Bond you own can automatically go on earning interest every year for 20 years from date of purchase instead of 10 as before! This means that the bond you bought for $18.75 can return you not just $25—but as much as $33.33! A $37.50 bond pays $66.66. And so on. Bankers recommend Defense Bonds as one of the best forms of investment!

There is no safer investment in the world today... U. S. Defense Bonds!

The U. S. Government does not pay for this advertising. The Treasury Department, thanks, for their patriotic donation, the Advertising Council and

LA MONTE

Union Thanks Service Nov. 21 At La Monte

Mrs. E. P. Burke

LA MONTE—A union Thanksgiving service will be held in the La Monte Methodist church at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 21. The Rev. N. A. Tolle, of the Christian church, will deliver the sermon.

Mrs. Glenn Wellman was admitted to the Research hospital in Kansas City Monday for a medical check-up.

Mr. and Mrs. Munsey Gregory and Mrs. Craig Temple, Paola, Kas., viisited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Ficken.

The following members of the 4-H club of La Monte and their leader, Mrs. Edward Gregory, were guests at the turkey supper in Sedalia Saturday evening at the Smith-Cotton high school: Reta Pearl Jackson, Charlie "Bill" Files, Mary Louise Gregory, Jackie Van Bibber, Junior and Virginia Kindle, Marilyn Rice, James Hardin, Buddy and Dickie Lambert, Susan Wade, Larry Hudson, Gene Comfort, Robert Reavis, Lyman Lyne and Jessie Lindaman.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Williams, Sr., had an outing at their cabin in the Ozarks Sunday in compliment to their son, Cpl. Ira Williams, Jr., of Pine Bluff, Ark., and friends: Mr. and Mrs. Noel Snow, Miss Jean Mahin, Miss Pauline Sprinkles, Dale Butler, and their daughter, Miss Evelyn Williams, also their son, Robert. Cpl. Williams will be stationed at Annasten, Ala., on reporting for service after a furlough.

Mrs. Charles Needy of Berkeley, Calif., visited Mrs. W. T. Hull Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Emma Kerby visited Sunday night in Lee's Summit with her daughter, Mrs. Gene Kelly and Mr. Kelly, and on Monday went to Kansas City to purchase merchandise for her store. She returned home Tuesday night.

Charivari for Curtis'

A group of relatives and friends gave Mr. and Mrs. Morris Curtis a charivari Monday night at their home. Treats of apples, candy and cigars were given them. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis were married Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Abell and children of Sneed Station, Stinnett, Tex., arrived Saturday for two weeks' vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hollenbeck, and sister, Miss Rowena, and other relatives.

Eighty students and teachers of the La Monte high and grade school attended the Passion Play at the Liberty theatre in Sedalia Monday. They were taken there in two school busses driven by Robert DeLapp and Thomas Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Dyer, Warsaw, were guests of her mother, Mrs. J. M. Wharton, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Ficken, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Perkins were entertained at a six o'clock dinner Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Roberts.

Mrs. Sadie Briggs, Mrs. Hattie Overstreet, Miss Fern Reavis, Miss Vee Flinn, all of Kansas City, and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Noland were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Reavis and daughter, Nancy. Mrs. Briggs is leaving soon for Texas to spend the holiday season with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Briggs.

Attend OES Reception

Several members of the Eastern Star from here attended the reception given at the Masonic temple in Sedalia honoring Mrs. Viola Coffman, associate grand conductress of the grand chapter of Missouri. They were Mrs. R. P. Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Summerskill, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McKeehan, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Everette Wing, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Hardin.

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Olson, Gashland, spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. W. T. Hull, and brother, Dean.

LINCOLN

Lonnie Vogler Cuts Tongue Badly In Fall

By Mrs. Herbert Hansen

LINCOLN—Lonnie Ray Vogler, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vogler of Windsor, was seriously injured last Tuesday night in a fall. He was taken to the Windsor hospital where five stitches were required to close the deep wound in his tounge. His condition is reported as being fine. Lonnie Ray is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Means and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Vogler of Lincoln.

Mr. and Mrs. Bishop Cannon, who have spent the past years in one of the western states, visited here recently with their daughter, Miss Avis Lee Cannon. Later they visited with another daughter at Urich.

Music director, Mrs. Homer Brady, presented the pupils of the Lincoln junior band in their first program of special music before the Parent Teachers association at the high school. Other numbers on the program were vocal selections by the girl's glee club and tap dancing by Betty Sue McCubbin and Linda Kroenke.

During the business meeting, Mrs. R. G. Carney, president, introduced Mrs. Norman Gerken, who gave a very interesting report of the state PTA convention recently held at St. Joseph. Following the meeting refreshments were served by the room mothers. The next meeting will be in the form of an old fashioned Christmas party; the exact date has not been set yet.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Standard and family of Sedalia spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Standard's mother, Mrs. Clar Hare. They and Mr. and Mrs. Amos Owens and children were her dinner guests Sunday.

The adult class which is being directed at the high school building in Lincoln by Miss Idellah Holly, home economics teacher, is being well attended and much enthusiasm is being shown. The course is being sponsored by the Lincoln school and state department of vocational education.

Mr .and Mrs. Guy See of Lake Charles, La., were supper guests Friday night of Fred Owens and daughter, Wilma.

Mr. and Mrs. Merlin McCandless and family of Sweet Springs were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McCandless, Sunday. They attended services at the Methodist church where they formerly were members.

Mrs. Winnie Benz of Bakersfield, Calif., visited recently with relatives and friends here and was a supper guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Brill on Sunday night. Mrs. S. O. Stratton was also a guest. Mrs. Benz is the daughter of the late Dr. Rhodes of Lincoln and spent many years of earlier life in this community.

Carl Moor of near Warsaw has spent several days at the home of his mother, Mr. S. O. Stratton, in Lincoln after becoming suddenly ill while visiting her last Friday. His condition is reported improved.

Mrs. Bell Chaney and daughter visited near Windsor Sunday afternoon with their son and brother, James Chaney, his wife and son. Mr. Chaney returned home Wednesday from the Windsor hospital. His condition is improved. Mrs. Chaney's parents of Warrensburg were also guests at the home Sunday.

Mrs. John Whital of St. Louis has returned home after visiting several days wtih her mother, Mrs. Anna Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Henry and family of Warrensburg and Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Henry and children of Lincoln were guests Sunday of their sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Attwood and Wayne and their mother, Mrs. Hettie Henry. Mrs. Oliver White of Warsaw was a guest at the home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roark and family of Kansas City were guests of relatives here over the week-end and were accompanied home by Mr. Roark's mother, Mrs. Nettie Roark, who plans to spend three weeks at the home of her son.

Dr. Canaday Famous As Doctor, Florist

He and Mrs. Canaday Observe Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary This Week; Came To Sedalia Because She Heard of City

By Hazel Lang

It was back in 1902 when Dr. Jule E. Cannady, who had just graduated from the McCormick Optical college, Chicago, Ill., in opthalmology, stood with his wife of one year facing the future and looking for a place to settle down.

Mrs. Cannaday, the former Lela May Noble of Alton, Ill., was born on a farm near the little town of Otterville, Ill., and a few miles away between two bluffs was the the Pisas Chautauqua. Somewhere back in her memory she had met someone at the Chautauqua from Sedalia, Mo., and although she can not remember who it was they must have made a good sales talk on the town—because she suggested to her young husband that they go to Sedalia, Mo. "I have heard that is a good town," she said.

And so they agreed that, since they were both members of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, that they would go to Sedalia provided it had a Cumberland Presbyterian church.

They made a trip across Chicago to visit the Cumberland Presbyterian minister and ask him if there was a church in Sedalia, Mo., and he told them there was.

So they went to St. Louis and took an excursion from St. Louis to Sedalia to look the city over. They liked the town, liked the Cumberland Presbyterian church which is now the Masonic temple, and decided this was the place.

Didn't Have Much on Arrival

They didn't have much, Mrs. Cannaday said, Dr. Cannaday's father had died before he was born and he had succeeded in completing his education, but that was about all he had. So starting their lives they came to Sedalia May 11, 1902.

"Well," said the little old lady into whise house they had moved, "things aren't very good here—several doctors have had to leave because they just couldn't make it."

That wasn't very encouraging, but they stayed. Dr. Cannaday starting out first as an eye specialist and then changing to a skin specialist to become an outstanding dermatologist.

Dr. Julius Eldred Cannaday was born April 14, 1875, and took his first year of medicine at Missouri Medical college, St. Louis, now the Washington university. He was graduated from Vanderbilt university at Nashville, Tenn., on April 5, 1901, where he specialized in dermatology. He went to Ableman, Wis., where he did general practice for one year and then attended the McCormick Optical college, in Chicago.

Known Over World

From that time on his life has been varied and colorful and he has become know all over the world for several reasons.

When he began his practice as a skin specialist, he started on a prescription given by a professor in the Vanderbilt university. He had jotted it down and his first case was a baby. He tried the prescription and it worked. He has been trying it ever since along with his own theories and medicines and has become famous throughout the United States. People who have been treated by the doctor are liberal in their praise for hundreds of them had spent thousands of dollars trying to get relief from various skin diseases and found none until they had been treated by Doctor Cannaday.

Come From Far To Him

They have come to Sedalia even as far away as Texas in ambulances. They have come by plane, train, bus and car. Two men in Kansas, who have large wheat fields and have planes of their own and believe so in the doctor's treatments that they fly people from Kansas to the Sedalia Airport where they call a taxi and bring them on in to Sedalia for treatment.

Down in Texas where the Phillips Oil company have refineries they use the company's radio hookup with Kansas City and appointments are often made from Kansas City with Dr. Cannaday for the people from Texas.

Dr. Cannaday has two pet questions. He always asks his patients their religion and their politics and before they leave he knows something of the government of their towns.

Sedalians are frequently asked if they know Dr. Cannaday, and he gets stacks of letters daily. Often people will say to the doctor, in letters or to Sedalians who are traveling that Dr. Cannaday treated them 20 years ago and they have had no skin disease since. They might even tell of someone in their family who was treated 30 years ago and many who were treated were in serious condition, hardly able to move because of the terrible skin irritation.

In Midwest "Who's Who"

Dr. Cannaday's biography was recently published in "Who's Who in the Midwest" and he has been asked for his biography for "Who's Who in America."

But Dr. Cannaday did not stop with just his practice. He had other interests, too, many of them.

He loved flowers. And so when he talked to a professional flower grower from Sweden who wanted a greenhouse, Dr. Cannaday decided to start a greenhouse.

The Swede didn't prove very satisfactory, though, and neither did the other growers. All were from some European country because there flower growing had been a profession for many years while here was rather new, and no American greenhouse was without a professional European grower.

Grew His Own Flowers

The European flower growers proved a headache, however, and the doctor determined to learn to grow his own flowers. He bought the best encyclopedias on floriculture he could buy. He studied them throughly, then he made a day-by-day calendar on flower growing which set forth exactly what to do on each day of the year so that those working for him would have a plan.

He worked his plan so that he would have a more equal supply of flowers—each week. The work for the week was typed. Through this his employees knew exactly when to plant what seeds, what kind of soil was necessary, what kind of fertilizer to use, what the temperature should be for certain flowers and thus, at just the time he needed them, he had plants in bloom in abundance. He had to be just right on his planting and care for poinsettas—just right each year for the Easter lilies no matter when Easter came.

State Florists Here

Then one year there was a florist convention in Sedalia and the visiting florists went out to see Dr. Cannaday's greenhouse, which is the State Fair Floral company, located near the Missouri State Fair grounds on highway 65.

They were amazed at the flowers he had and more amazed that he did not have a professional flower grower. He told his story, told of his record that he had been keeping for a number of years and of his day-by-day plan.

"That you could sell" one florist told him, "there is a great need for such" and so he had it printed, advertised it in the Florist Review, Chicago, and the Florist Exchange, New York City, two outstanding trade papers, and he was in another business. He has run 2,072 consecutive ads in those magazines.

All over the United States, Canada, Panama, Alaska, Hawaii practically all over the world he has students and in simple language he tells in day-by-day plans exactly what to do to grow flowers. These day-by-day charts are sent out each week and there are thousands of students. The directions are told simply enough that any-

School Board Runs Soundly on Financial Shoe-String

By Gene Williams

According to the brief financial summary of the Sedalia school district No. 200, as of Nov. 14, the local school board is operating on a hair-line basis—and has been doing so for some time.

On the basis of architect's certificates, $23,350.43 was due Nov. 14 on building contracts. Since the balance in the building fund was only $21,046.67—or 2,303.76 short of the amount due—it appeared the spending was a little heavy.

But, upon a closer check, it was found that the financing, although rather close, was sound, because included in the total contracts were found some additions, "extras," furniture and equipment purchased from bond funds. A previous estimate showed that $20,000 would probably be spent for these other incidentals, but the board kept it down to what can be considered a mere $2,303.76.

Current financial data shows that $105,323.38 was on deposit at Sedalia banks during November with bills totaling $48,030.27 up to Nov. 14 to be taken out. Another withdrawal totaling $47,153,81 (for payrolls of Nov. 30, based on last month's payroll, and a deposit of $9,758.85 from county collections yet to be received, would leave an anticipated balance for Dec. 1 of $19,898.15.

The balance of $19,898.15 in the regular operating fund, plus $2,303.76 borrowed from the building fund, allows bills to be paid as of Dec. 1. This leaves a balance of $21,046.67 in the building bond fund.

From receipts of tax money in December and January, the board will have funds to repay the $2,303.76 to the bond money and will have the operating capital necessary for the remainder of the year.

Starting the fiscal year with July 1, the balances in all funds (excluding the bond fund) totaled approximately $125,000—yet without the $2,303.76 bond money, the board would be unable to meet all bills up to Dec. 1.

In other words, it is a must for the board to have $125,000 in operating funds as of July 1 of each year in order to meet payrolls and expenses through November. Dr. Heber U. Hunt said, "To be on the safe side this balance should be approximately $140,000."

The larger portion of funds received from the county comes in December and January.

Hunt said, "The budget for the current year anticipates balances, July 1, 1952, of approximately $125,000 so that the board should be safe during the current year. However, these detailed figures are presented in order that the board may thoroughly understand the absolute necessity of maintaining a balance of somewhere between $125,000 and $150,000 as of July 1 each year. Of course, this is based on the assumption that receipts, payrolls and ordinary expenses remain approximately the same for the current year."

These figures may be confusing—but it all adds up to the fact that running Sedalia public schools is a big job.

12,875 Dimes from Pickle Jar Pay for New Car Here

With the government calling for pennies, nickels and dimes that somehow seem to have gotten lost from circulation, it need not worry now as far as dimes are concerned.

Wednesday, E. C. Mein of Cole Camp, route 1, walked into the E. W. Thompson Motor company and bought a car from H. H. Kroencke, salesman. It was a trade-in and the balance owed by Mein was $1,227.90.

Mr. Mein handed over his down payment of $10 in dimes and told Mr. Kroencke that he would pay him the remainder in dimes when he brought the car out to him the next day.

It was a bad night for Mr. Kroencke. He couldn't sleep for thinking how he was going to get all those dimes counted and he sat up trying to figure out how many dimes it would take to make $1,277.90.

Down in Cole Camp, Mr. Mein, who is a farmer and dairyman, and his son, John E. Mein, were having a bad night, too. They were actually counting the dimes. From 8:45 to midnight they counted dimes until they shiny little pieces blurred before their eyes and they got dizzy as they counted, stacked and sacked.

The next morning Mr. Mein took the paper sacks, each with $100 in dimes, put them in two market baskets, and went to town. The employees at Thompson's looked bewildered as he struggled in with the loaded market baskets—and it was a struggle because they were heavy.

People going into the office saw three desks with stacks and stacks of dimes and became a bit curious.

Mr. Kroencke didn't know exactly what to do about so many dimes—they had to be counted. First they were taken to a local bank and then they were taken to the city hall where they were counted on the counting machine that is used to count the parking meter money. The dimes didn't add up just right so they were counted again and Mr. Mein was a few dimes short. He and his son had completely worn out counting and they just missed a little in getting the right amount sacked.

But—what do you think Mr. Mein did when he found he didn't have quite enough dimes—he just brought in another sack of dimes and let them count out the necessary amount themselves.

And why and how did Mr. Mein save all those dimes? Well, several years ago he decided that he would start saving dimes for a new car, so every evening he would look over his change, take out the dimes and put them in a glass pickle jar. That was all right at first, but finally Mrs. Mein became a little disturbed that all her pickle jars were being filled with dimes instead of pickles. That had no effect on her husband however. He didn't tell her why, he just kept on filling pickle jars.

Finally the day came when he had enough—yes, even more than enough to buy the car. He traded in a 1940 Mercury and bought himself a 1950 model four-door sedan, and it is a dandy, he says. Mrs. Mein can now but pickles back in the pickle jars until his dimes get to growing again into quantities.

Ridgway Reverses Truce Terms

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON—General Ridgway has cabled a strong recommendation to the Pentagon that we keep the military pressure on the Communists until all the terms of the armistice are settled. Otherwise, he warns that the Chinese will stall over such matters as inspection teams and exchanging prisoners.

However, there is no question but that Ridgway's' proposal represents a definite and important change of policy. Therefore his proposal is still under active consideration by the joint chiefs of staff and the national security council. Until they reach a final decision, he has been given authority to press his demands at Panmunjom.

When we went into the truce talks, the biggest obstacle seemed to be drawing a truce line. We agreed—in fact, urged—that the truce line be settled first. After months of haggling, the Communists finally came around to our terms. Their last proposal on a truce line was so close to our demads that there was nothing left to haggle over.

At first Washington couldn't understand why Ridgway didn't snap it up, but sent his negotiators back instead with a flat rejection and a warning that the truce line couldn't be drawn until the other terms of the armistice were settled. In other words, we reversed ourselves.

The reason for this reversal was that originally we agreed to take up the truce line first, because we then didn't' plan to go anywhere during the armistice. We planned to move into strong positions in the hills and camp there for the winter. In fact, Ridgway told General Omar Bradley that jeep accidents would outnumber battle casualties this winter. What Ridgway meant by this was that he didn't plan to do any fighting. Thus, there was no reason not to draw the truce line first.

However, Ridgway is now so confident in his own military strength and so convinced the Chinese are seriously crippled that he is willing to gamble on using force in order to speed up the entire negotiations and gain a more favorable armistice. What he fears is that the Communists will stall once a truce is decided and wait all winter before agreeing to a final peace. This would mean leaving our prisoners in Chinese hands during the dread Korean winter—a winter which some of them could not survive.

House investigators have asked for a full report on nine delinquent San Francisco taxpayers who suddenly paid up after James G. Smyth was suspended as San Francisco collector.

Heading the list is Ben Swig, owner of the fashionable Fairmont hotel, who is a power in West coast Democratic politics and usually entertains President Truman when he comes to. town Smyth was allowing Swig to pay off a $500,000 tax debt at the rate of $5,000 a month—on the grounds that he couldn't afford any more. However, Smyth was bounced out last month, and Charles Masarik, a deputy collector from Pittsburgh, was sent to San Francisco to take over.

Masarik promptly notified Swig that a lien would be put on his property so the government could collect its money ahead of any other debts. Within two days Swig paid the $307,000 remaining due. The investigators now want to know why Smyth was so lenient to a taxpayer who could raise so much money in so short a time.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The City Water company changed its name to the Sedalia Water Co., through articles of incorporation filed in the county recorder's office.

Will Rogers, wise cracking cowboy from Oklahoma, New York and intervening points, was in Kansas City to hurl his lariat and a little timely conversation to junior farmers at the American Royal Livestock show.

Roy Taylor was elected president, George R. Wilkerson, vice-president, and Edith Ellis, secretary-treasurer of the Longwood Community association.

Deputy Sheriff Grover C. Brent, shot two weeks ago by a fugitive in an atempted arrest near Des Moines, Iowa, arrived home from that place and was able to be out.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The home of Thomas W. Bast, architect, was robbed and numerous valuables taken, including three rings.

Bid were being received by the Rev. B. R. McNamee for installation of a steam heating plant at the St. Patrick's edifice.

The First Baptist church extended an unanamious call Sunday to Rev. R. L. Davidson, Liberty, Mo., to succeed the Rev. F. Y. Campbell, resigned.

John H. Bothwell, of this city, was named by Gov. Herbert S Hadley as a delegate to attend the National Rivers and Harbors Congress at Washington, D. C., Dec. 6-8.

Dr. Canaday Famous As Doctor, Florist

one with a grade school education can follow them. In fact, universities who have had to turn down students because they did not have the credits to enter the universities for a course in floriculture have been sent to Dr. Cannaday to take his course and have become successful florists. The school was started 39 years ago. The greenhouse was built in 1913.

Authority on Bugs

Another thing that Da. Cannaday is an authority on is bugs. People who bring bugs or insects of rare kinds to the Democrat-Capital office and ask what they are find themselves being sent to the man who knows, Dr. Cannaday.

Dr. Cannaday has always had an interest in boys. Years ago he would give a lecture once a week at the Y. M . C. A. and the room would always be filled with boys. He would talk on the stars, the Bible, flowers and many, many other subjects and the boys were fascinated. They declared they learned more at the lectures than they did at school the entire week.

Then there was something else that made him wonderful to the boys that followed the lecture—eats. Always Dr. Cannaday would fill the basket of his motorcycle with sardines and crackers, or maybe cheese and crackers, or some other appetising food and after the lecture there would be a feast.

S. S. Class for Caddies

He would get up early on Sunday morning, too, maybe 5 or 6 o'clock and go out to the Sedalia Country Club where he would have a Sunday school class for the caddies—and that they remember, yet, too. He not only taught Sunday school but he taught the caddies to play golf and some have made excellent golfers today.

All this time he had time for civic activities and to take active part in the medical associations. Following are some of the organizations he has been active in:

Member, Pettis County Medical association and American Medical association.

Member, Missouri Medical association.

President, Community Hotel association.

Treasurer, Sedalia Country club for many years.

Chairman, disaster committee of Red Cross.

Member, advisory board, Missouri AAA club.

Director, Sedalia Bank and Trust company.

Elder, Broadway Presbyterian church.

Mason, 32nd degree; Sedalia Lodge No. 236, AF & AM; St. Omer Commandery, KT; Sedalia chapter, No. 18, RAM; Sedalia council, No. 42, R & SM; Ararat Temple, AAONMS of Kansas City; the Order of Eastern Star of Missouri.

Member, Conservation Federation of Missouri.

Member, Gideons.

Member, executive committee of UCT of America.

Member, Florists FTD association (was president).

Member, Chamber of Commerce and U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Was director of Missouri Associated Industries and trustees of Missouri Valley college, Marshall.

Member, Rotary club (past president).

His first florist shop was located between Fifth and Sixth on the west side of Ohio, but since 1915 he has been located at 316 South Ohio. He and Mrs. Cannaday have a great love for their employees, seven of whom have been with them for more than 25 years.

Until the last two or three years Mrs. Cannaday would cook dinner two or three times a week and take it down to the State Fair Floral shop where a table in the rear of the store would be cleared and all would sit down and eat together. There was fun and fellowship that brought them all closer together and they all loved it. On big days, like Christmas and Easter, when they were so busy, Mrs. Cannaday always cooked the dinner and went to the shop.

There is something else they have done, too, in those golden years of theirs, for they just celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Nov. 13. The greatest thing of all. They have reared two daughters. One is the gay and witty Ladye, who is the wife of Undrill Renshaw. The other, smiling but of a more quiet nature, Bettina, now Mrs. Stirling Davis, who lives in the state of California and has two children, Craig and Freddie.

Dr. Cannaday, who is not as well physically as he was a few years ago, is still mentally alert as ever — still loves to talk to people, to watch people and is always ready to give a bit of knowledge in his conversations.

Mrs. Cannaday has a picture she has had several years; she loves the picture—a sunset scene with a man and woman walking into the sunset. "It like to think that is Jule and Lela May," she said. And so at the end of 50 years together, along the path filled with love for each other and interest in all humanity, they are still walking the road of life together—on and on and on—into the sunset years.

Yep! That Season Will Soon Be Upon Us!

Kitten in the Woods

By Kathleen Briggs

THE STORY: Courtney Benson is found dead under circumstances which point to murder on the morning after his visit to Black Firs, where Elizabeth Brownell is nurse to Mrs. Lucien Steinhart, invalid owner of the estate. Elizabeth had been mystified by the actions of Lucia, granddaughter of Mrs. Steinhart, and Ollie, a son, prior to the discovery of the crime. Ollie now has invited her to his solarium.

AT the sharp click of the lock, Elizabeth turned uneasily. Ollie saw the question in her eyes and broke into the gnomish chuckle that was as much a part of him as his thick-lensed glasses.

"Just the two of us, Miss. No pesky interference!"

Still wondering, she turned and stared at the vast glass-domed room before her. The sight made her gasp with amazement.

"I feel as though I'd stepped into another world."

"You have—the world of jungle. A lost world to most New Englanders. Few outsiders have seen it."

Taking her elbow he led her through the wondrous green world that he had created in a state where the winters frequently went to 40 below. In here the air was moistly hot with the muggy heat demanded by jungle growth. Giant tree ferns grew side by side with guavas, mangoes and papayas, their trunks almost concealed by the lush tropical shrubs.

There was movement in the air too. The flitting, colorful movement of exotic butterflies dipping from flower to flower. A brilliant blue one quivered on a hibiscus blossom near Elizabeth.

"That's a Brazilian beauty," Ollie explained. "She'll only live today and I've been nursing along the chrysalis for months. They're sent to me from Africa and South America. When they die, I mount them and send them to various college laboratories."

Ollie wasn't completely useless! His hobbies which seemed fanciful, were actually of benefit to science.

In the center of the vast solarium stood a strange tree with winding branches. It had no foliage except a parasitic moss yet so thickly covered was it with clusters of air plants and catalyas that it gave the impression of verdant visible life. Clusters of tiny ruby-throated orchids swung airly from the moss. Orchids of every type: pea green with brown stripes, pink, purple, scarlet.

Beneath the tree was a pool. Dragon flies hovered over it as though peering at the gold fish beneath them. Beside the pool was a small table set for two.

OLLIE waved toward the table and stumbled over a root of the dead tree. He clutched at Elizabeth but went to his knees. When he got up his face was flushed with annoyance.

"It's these glasses! I broke the others out in the woods the other night and these old ones aren't quite right."

"When you broke your butterfly lantern?" Elizabeth asked.

"Same time, up by the dam. The night poor Courtney . . ."

His head turned like a screw on his neck as he stared at Elizabeth.

"Look here, Miss, you're not playing detective?"

"Of course not, I—I was just curious."

"I wouldn't if I were you. It might lead to some unwise conclusions — unsafe conclusions for you."

There was an ominous undertone to the words, she thought.

The table held two bowls of ice on each of which reposed a mango. Ollie motioned her to a chair, pushed her in and seated himself.

"Now this is the way a mango should be eaten, my dear. Icy cold in a jungle setting. Watch me and follow suit."

He sliced off the two sides then rammed a knife into the huge oblong seed and began to nibble around the edge. Elizabeth copied his method. The fruit was more delicious than she had imagined, a strange tempting exotic flavor. "That was better than wonderful," she said.

He nodded agreement. "Yes, it was. These are Philippine mangoes, not the West Indies kind."

She looked around the room. "Have the others been in here?"

"Yes, but they weren't appreciative. Lee liked it most. He's interested in experimental farming but the domestic variety. Lucia, of course, saw it only as another beauty parlor. She was determined to take a sun bath here though I told her that sensible people didn't sunbathe in jungles."

"What happened?"

Ollie laughed with malicious triumph. "She didn't get a tan and the moist heat took all the curl out of her hair."

A WEIRD matchstick sort of insect was walking toward her on the table top. It paused, assumed an attitude of prayer, swiveled its head sharply on its neck and stared at Elizabeth with large globular eyes.

Ollie chuckled at her expression. "It's a praying mantis."

"It looks like a walking twig."

"Makes a nice pet but it has odd habits. Reminds me of people."

"Me too." She smiled, thinking of Dr. Alexi back at Aker's General. He had a habit of holding his fingertips together and staring through his spectacles while propounding a psychiatric theory.

"I had Lucia in mind. She's going to be like a mantis if she ever marries." Ollie said.

"In what way?"

"The mantis consumes its husband after mating. Lucia will accomplish it spiritually."

Elizabeth saw that he was watching her, waiting for a reaction to his remark. Ollie was a strange person. Almost fanatical in his unwavering devotion to his mother, yet childish and petty in many ways. For instance, the way he had spoken of Courtney Benson when he had heard of his coming to Black Firs. Had Ollie murdered Benson?

Odds and Ends By News Staff

For the simple reason that the boys in a local office can cook and the girls can't — or if they can they haven't been able to prove it —there have been produced some of the most amazing alibis imaginable.

It all started last summer when one of the boys brought a chocolate cake. Then another one brought the long promised fudge —then divinity — and everybody admitted that neither the cake nor the candy could be surpassed. But somehow the girls just didn't seem to be doing their part. All they did was eat.

Finally, it got to the place where they had heard so much from the males that they decided they would bring something, too.

The first girl started to make fudge and found she had no cocoa. Then she tried another night and the fudge went to sugar. Suddenly, to shield herself, she decided to go on a diet.

The second girl started to make cookies and found she had no sugar — then she tried to make divinity and something happened to that. Then she went on a diet, too.

The third thought she would make fudge — but when she got ready she didn't have any milk. She waited a few nights and then made a batch of fudge but she put it in a rather deep pan to cool and it was too soft to get out. At least that night, and she didn't have time the next morning. When she said she couldn't get it out of the pan — that was the last straw for the males.

Well, she isn't going on a diet —that is one thing sure. She does not profess to be a cook anyway and she is perfectly willing that the boys throw out their chests and bring on the sweets — for her greatest accomplishment is eating and its a lot easier to eat than cook.—H. L.

THE FIRST THANKSGIVING

Illustrated by Walt Scott

The glory-filled story of The Texas Ranger, relentless enemies of the outlaw gangs that once terrorized Texas plays Sunday through Tuesday at the Uptown Theatre. This picture in color stars George Montgomery and Gale Storm. Featured players are Jerome Courtland, Noah Beery, Jr., and William Bishop. The second feature is Never Trust A Gambler, with Ane Clark, Cathy O'Donnell and Tom Drake.

"Angels In The Outfield." Janet Leigh, Paul Douglas and little Donna Corcoran prepare to enjoy a birthday dinner in a scene from "Angels in The Outfield," the warmly human movie which opens today at the Fox Theatre. Keenan Wynn, Lewis Stone and Spring Byington are featured in supporting roles.

Twin First Run Adventure Hits! Errol Flynn and Micheline Prelle are co-starred in "The Adventures of Captain Fabian," the robust action-packed story of the boldest sea wolf ever to scourge the seas. Also starred are Vincent Price and Agnes Moorehead. The co-hit is a thrilling struggle for sunken gold, "The Sea Hornet," which stars Rod Cameron, Adele Mara, Adrian Booth, Chill Wills and Jim Davis. These two adventure hits play today through Tuesday at the Liberty.

Bob Thomas In Hollywood---

Ten Suggestions For Movie Industry to Boost Bizness

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 17—(AP)—What can the movie industry actually do to improve business?

This intrepid observer will now proceed to list 10 golden rules on how to put people back into the theaters. This is partly in answer to the industry minds who are constantly attacking the Hollywood press and movie critics for their alleged destructive effect on film business. (Theater men are the touchiest in this regard.)

Okay, so today I am going to be constructive. Here are 10 easy lessons for improving the film biz:

1. Clean up the theaters. Many of them are decaying hulks which look as though they haven't had a washing since sound came in. It's true that people want to get dolled up and go out for entertainment now and then. But they don't want to spend their big night out in a crummy theater. The theaterss don't need an expensive overhaul; a fresh coat of paint will do wonders.

2. Improve the advertising policy. Bigger and better ads in the papers will draw more attention to the theaters. Look at some newspapers of 20 years ago and you'll see how little movie ads have changed. You can't sell 1951 attractions with the same stuff that advertised "Gold Diggers of 1933."

3. Use more color. Since television is now stymied on the use of color, the movies should go all-out on tinting the product.

4. Make less pictures. The routine budget should be made on the premise that it could be a hit, not that it will meet a schedule.

5. Do more pre-production planning. Too many pictures still enter production without finished scripts. You can seldom ad lib a great picture.

6. Use more slapstick. In these days of hot and cold wars, high prices and low take-home pay, people need to laugh. In fact, they have to laugh or they'll blow their tops. Hollywood has fallen down misearably in comedy, which was formerly one of its principal products.

7. Stop penny-pinching. It's true that economy is needed in the industry. But it's also true that the top money-makers of 1951 have nearly all been films on which expense has not been spared. Remember: You have to spend money to make money.

8. More provocative co-starring. This is an old complaint but still a valid one. The studios should do more swapping of stars instead of playing the same old teams. A good example is the teaming of Bob Hope and Jane Russell in "Paleface," a box office bonanza.

9. Abolish re-issues except for genuine classics. The public is merely confused and irritated when it sees an old run-of-the-mill picture in a theater. There are enough old pictures on TV.

10. Cultivate the adult market. Kids will always flock to the movies. The big problem is getting the oldsters back.

Autry Signs Judy Nugent

Judy Nugent, child radio actress, has been added to the cast of "Night Stage to Galveston," Gene Autry starrer of Columbia which Archainbaud is directing. She will be seen as a child orphaned by murder who is befriended by Autry.

Richard Denning, Rhys Williams Named To Cast Of "Okinawa"

Richard Denning and Rhys Williams have been signed by Columbia to play the roles of a destroyer executive officer and a gun crew captain, respectively, in "Okinawa," (formerly identified as "Battle Stations"). As a major part of the action will be filmed at sea aboard a Navy vessel, Denning and Williams, along with star Pat O'Brien and other cast and crew members, had to be cleared by Navy Intelligence. Leigh Jason is directing and Wallace MacDonald producing.

Sheila Bond Will Make Debut As Sister of Judy Holliday

Sheila Bond, new motion picture recruit from the Broadway stage, will make her screen debut as the sister of Judy Holliday in Columbia's "The Marrying Kind." Character actor John Alexander has been named to play Miss Bond's husband in the comedy, and silent film star Gertrude Astor will be seen as a society dowager. George Cukor is directing the Carson Kanin-Ruth Gordon screenplay. Bert Granet is producing.

Screen Snapshots Honor Jolson

Ralph Staub, producer of Columbia's Screen Snapshots, is assembling from his files of more than 4000 short subjects, informal scenes of Al Jolson which Staub shot during the past 20 years. The memorial short will open with a shot of the monument in Hillside Memorial Park which was dedicated recently, and flash back to early scenes of Jolson, Mrs. Jolson and their young son, which Staub personally photographed on Jolson's return from Korea.

Ruth Warren, Waller Cast In "Montana Territory"

Ruth Warren, in the chief supporting role of a boarding house keeper, and Eddy Waller, as the father of heroine Wanda Hendrix, have been cast by Columbia in the Technicolor drama, "Montana Territory." Lon McCallister and Preston Foster have the male leads. Previous Columbia appearances by the players were in "In a Lonely Place" by Miss Warren, and "Indian Territory" by Waller. "Montana Territory" is being directed by Ray Nazarro for producer Colbert Clark.

Judy Garland's Love Pays Off In Smash Hit

By Cynthia Lowry
AP Newfeatures Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—(AP)—If you are a pessimist about people, take a look at the comeback of Judy Garland.

Right now this red-haired young woman with a big voice is the hottest property in show business. She has put two-a-day vaudeville back on Broadway and into its mecca, the Old Palace. She is playing to standing room only audiences. Queues stretch into the street and people have been buying tickets weeks in advance at a top of $4.80. With tickets now selling four weeks in advance, the Palace expects her show to run well past New Year's.

She is so valuable right now she is as inaccessible as a bank vault. She gives no interviews to reporters; there's a Palace guard around her, a small regiment in which each man makes it his duty to isolate her from the public.

This, on the Broadway-Hollywood axis means success. Judy Garland, her protectors are implying, is so widely successful she doesn't need or want publicity. That alone is more significant of her smash comeback that the presence of her fish tailed convertible parked on a "no parking" street with a police officer leaning against a fender.

Lots of things have happened to Judy Garland since the middle of October when she opened at newly decorated old Palace. She bought a white-tie and ermine-caped audience to their feet.

It was a Roman triumph, that opening, not unmixed with American corn.

The real test came later, when matinee audiences of housewives from Brooklyn, Queens, Nassau and Westchester filled the seats; when guys from business offices brought their wives or their girls for an evening's entertainment. They cheered Judy and wept a little, too. There were reasons for this beyond the fact that Judy Garland is a skilled, exciting and extremely adroit performer.

It was just about a year ago that Hollywood was loudly and figuratively burying the career of one of its brightest stars.

A typical headline queried: "Is Judy Garland Washed Up at 29?" She was out of the studio where 13 years before she had become a child star.

But the prophets of doom had forgotten about the love story.

A long time ago, when things were happier and Judy was prime boxoffice she confessed to an interviewer: "When I was a very little girl, I stood up and sang a song—and I fell in love with an audience. I've been in love with an audience ever since."

Little Frances Gumm was only two and one-half years old when she stood on the stage of her father's movie theater in Grand Rapids, Minn., and laced into "Jingle Bells."

Buster Crabbe Set For Columbia Serial

Buster Crabbe has been signed by Columbia for the lead in "King of the Congo," 15-chapter serial which Sam Katzman will produce and Spencer Bennet direct. Crabbe, who has been on a European tour with his Acquacade, last appeared for Columbia in another Katzman serial, "Pirates of the Hig Seas.'

Don't Say We Didn't Tell You!

Frequently our patrons hear about an unusual motion picture after it's gone—and then ask us why we hadn't insisted that they come to see it!

Well, advertising movies isn't quite like selling groceries. Pretty nearly everybody eats the same kind of food—but tastes vary widely in movies and only rarely does one come along that everybody likes.

Then, there are those unusual pictures that people hear about after they've gone—and we don't want that to happen to ANGELS IN THE OUTFIELD.

WE'RE TELLING YOU NOW that it is a grand piece of entertainment—so don't say we didn't tell you if you neglect to see it. We honestly believe it will delight just about every man, woman and child who sees it.

Words cannot describe this story about a tough baseball manager who devoutly "talked to angels," the charming little orphan girl who "actually saw them" hovering over the outfield, and the pretty news gal who put them both in headlines.

ANGELS IN THE OUTFIELD has all the fun and charm and sentiment of "The Stratton Story," "Going My Way," and "Song of Bernadette." A most unusual picture. You'll live it, we promise you—and double your money back if you don't agree!

Sincerely yours,
JOE RUDDICK, Manager.

Lesson In Co-operation

NEW YORK—(AP)—Four foreign and American students of New York University are learning first-hand about international co-operation by living with one of their instructors in his three-story Manhattan home.

The boys handle the cooking and cleaning chores in addition to studying and entertaining together. They occupy the third floor of the house wnile Marketing Instructor, Robert M. St. Clair, occupies the first. The second floor is a mutually shared lounge. The boys have access to a large record collection and a 500-volume library. The foreign students, Siong-huat So and Peter Gochan of the Philippine Islands, and Richard Crooks and Seymour March of the U. S., are all commerce majors.

St. Clair feels that many of the problems of foreign trade could be solved through such a program. He also hopes to get a better insight into student views on education. He first hit upon the idea when he was unable because of his teaching schedule to commute daily to Petersham, Mass., where his wife and children live.

Rubber Exports

SINGAPORE,—(AP)—Malaya exported 80,910 tons of rubber in September—and most of it went to the United Kingdom and the United States. The total shipments were almost 19,000 tons under the August figures of 99,480.

Can't Do It Alone

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — The Communist party in France could not gain control of the country without the help of the Soviet army.

So says Dr. Robert G. Neumann, assistant professor of political science at UCLA. Recently returned from France where he made an extensive study of political parties there, he believes the four million Frenchmen who voted Communist did so in protest to the present regime. Most of them are actually wary of political action, he says.

BLACKWATER

Griffith Roadside Park Will Be Memorial to War II Dead

By Mrs. M. R. Gillespie

BLACKWATER—The program for the dedication of the Griffith roadside park on Highway 40 at the Saline and Cooper county line will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 18, following a basket dinner which will be served at 1 p.m. The park is to be dedicated as a Blue Star memorial roadside park, which is a plan of the National Council of State Garden clubs to create a living monument to men and women who served in World War II. This is the third such park in the state.

Mr. and Mrs. William Nowlin were hosts at dinner Sunday for Miss Nora Nowlin, Miss Gertrude Nowlin of Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Larkin of Jefferson City, Mrs. G. W. Larkin, and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Anderson. Additional guests in the afternoon were Mrs. Tom Parker and son, Bruce, Mrs. Bill Davis, and Miss Edna Adams of Kansas City. The occasion was in honor of William Nowlin's birthday.

Dr. and Mrs. C. D. Lueckert had as dinner guests Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. John Neckerman of Pilot Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Hooper entertained at dinner Sunday. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hooper and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Hooper of Sedalia, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Taylor and daughter of Postal.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Davis and James R. Davis attended the football game at Columbia Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Poindexter and daughter, Miss Shirley Poindexter, who are employed in Kansas City, spent the week-end at their home here and had as guests Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Maddox and son of Independence.

Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Parks of St. Louis, who had been visiting relatives in Marshall, came here Sunday evening and were accompanied home that evening by his mother, Mrs. Linnie Smith, who will visit with them until the latter part of this week.

The Cooper county family night of the WPFA and MFA was held Friday night, Nov. 9, at the Willow Grove club house. There were approximately 100 persons in attendance. Talks were made by Oliver Alpin, manager of the Central MFA of Boonville, Otis Mitchell, MFA oil, also of Boonville, and Mr. Hering of Columbia, who is with the safety council of the MFA insurance. He also showed pictures pertaining to safe driving. Henry Fuser, vice-president, had charge of the meeting. Mrs. Charley Shemwell and Mrs. Douglas Anderson, dressed as clowns, furnished a part of the entertainment. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Poindexter of Boonville visited Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Corbin, Sr.

Mrs. Henry Lahmeyer, Mrs. E. W. Kella and Mrs. Rabern Kella of the Willow Grove WPFA attended the county board meeting held at Boonville Saturday, Nov. 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Potter of the Peninsula community spent Sunday with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Shemwell. Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Shemwell of Boonville were guests in the Shemwell home.

Mrs. Novella (Lawrence A.) Esser died Monday evening, Nov. 12, at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Garrison of Mackeyville, Pa., after a short illness. The body was brought to Missouri and funeral services were held at the Old Lamine Church of Christ at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Burial was in Lamine cemetery in the family plot. Mrs. Esser and daughter formerly resided here.

The Willing Workers 4-H club met at the club house on Wednesday evening, Nov. 7, at 9 o'clock. There were eight members and seven visitors present. Dizana Morris, president, conducted the meeting. The secretary, Marie Topel, read minutes of the previous meeting. Roll call was answered by naming "One Thing I Am Thankful For." Those appointed as project leaders were: for cooking, Mrs. Harold Topel; sewing, Mrs. Elbert Sprigg; livestock, Leroy Hill. Named to serve on the committee for the Christmas program were Mrs. William Clemmens, Sharon Wagner and Marie Topel. Community leaders are Mrs. Eugene Kincheloe and Mrs. Elliott Morris. The next meeting will be on Dec. 7.

William Sims of St. Louis came Thursday night for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. John R. Sims and other relaives. He returned home Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Widel had as dinner guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rapp of Pilot Grove, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Becker and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Price and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Widel and family. Afternoon guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kirkpatrick and son.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kuhn, Steve Harmon and C. Harmon of Arrow Rock were dinner guests Monday of Mr. and Mrs. Rabern Kella. The men spent the day hunting.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schuster and son, Johnnie, have moved to Alexandria, La., where he is employed.

CROSS TIMBERS

Snow Set Record With 20-Inch Fall

By Mrs. Beatrice Burnfin

CROSS TIMBERS—The deepest snow in history fell here the first of last week, which measured 20 incehs. All traffic was at a standstill until Thursday. The country roads were impassable until the snow began to thaw—on Thursday.

Lots of folks from the cities were quail hunting here over the week-end.

Funeral services for U. E. Sartin of Warsaw were held at 2 p.m. Sunday in Warsaw. Burial was at the New Haven cemetery. Mr. Sartin had been in failing health for several years.

The infant baby of Mr. and Mrs. Buz Bybee was buried at the Fristoe cemetery Sunday afternoon.
